Asks Congress to Act as One 'Bloc'

U. S. TO SPEND $3516 A SECOND TO WIN WAR

F. D. ASKS HUGE TAX FOR BUDGET

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (INS)—President Roosevelt today submitted a staggering $108,903,047,923 war budget to the new 78th Congress and asked for enactment of what he called a "harsh" program to raise $16,000,000,000 more a year in revenue through taxation, forced savings—or both.

One hundred billion dollars of the all-time record budget, which is for the fiscal year starting July 1, will be expended directly on the war, Mr. Roosevelt promised.

With unexpended balances of money already appropriated, the United States then will have available for war purposes $270,000,000,000 during the next 18 months.

Non-war expenditures, the President added, would be cut $2,392,000,000, but war costs would mount $23,000,000,000 in the period covered by the budget, it was estimated.

ASKS TOTAL WAR HARMONY

In a message accompanying the budget, Mr. Roosevelt appealed for national harmony—"regardless of party"—in waging what he said was "total war." He asked that blocs in Congress, such as the farm bloc or the silver bloc, forget special interests.

"May this new Congress confine itself to one bloc—a national bloc," he beseeched.

Speaking of his proposed "taxation, savings or both" proposal, the nation's Chief Executive again suggested some "pay-as-you-go" system and stated:

"Of necessity, the program must be harsh."

Further, he warned, "taxes probably never will revert to their pre-war level."

By June 30, 1944, Mr. Roosevelt pointed out, the public debt will be $210,549,150,549. Congress, he continued, will be asked to increase the present debt limit of $125,000,000,000.

NATION SOUNDLY SOLVENT

"To do this is sound," the President asserted, "for such a debt can and will be repaid.

"The nation is soundly solvent."

The President himself called it a "war budget."

"This budget," he continued,

What's One Hundred Billion?

In the square here you see one hundred dollar marks. Ten thousand of these squares make one million dollar marks. One thousand of those million make a billion. One hundred more of them make a billion.

The square is an inch each way. A million dollar marks would make 10,000 square inches. One thousand times 10,000 would make a billion. In other words, a billion dollar marks would cover 10,000,000 square inches. A page, this size, has approximately 145 square inches of type. One billion dollar marks, the size shown, would cover approximately 68,900 pages this size . . . or 6,890,000 pages for one hundred billion.

Figuring each page at 11 inches wide, the pages placed side by side would extend 75,790,000 inches, or 6,310,000 feet, or more than 1000 miles . . . or from here to Chicago and beyond.

That's one hundred billion.

Of course there's an extra nine billion on the budget—but let's not go into that.

Budget Costs $3516 Each Second

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — That $109,000,000,000 dividded equally would be $819 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The Treasury will have to pay out an average of $3516 every second, 24 hours a day, Sundays and holidays included.

U. S. FLIERS RIP AXIS IN LIBYA AND TUNISIA

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 11 (AP)—Allied bombers have struck again at possible junction points for Marshal Rommel's Libyan forces and the Axis army of Tunisia, raiding Gabes, the village of Kebili west of that port, and Kairouan, an African Air Force spokesman announced today.

The highlight of the day's air activity was a one-man bombing attack by Maj. Phillip George Cochran of Erie, Pa., who leads a P-40 Warhawk fighter group.

Alone and carrying one large bomb, he swept over the roof tops of Kairouan and deposited the explosive in the middle of German military headquarters for the area. He reported the headquarters destroyed.

On returning, he was attacked by a Focke-Wulf 190. Although his plane was shot up, he held off the German fighter and returned safely to his base.

The Tunisian raids followed the first sweep by American bombers from the west against the Tripoli area in the aerial effort to smash Rommel's retreating troops before he can escape the British Eighth Army and join hands with German and Italian forces in the French protectorate on the Mediterranean narrows.

Martin Marauders carried out the main raid of the day. They attacked railroad yards and oil storage tanks at Gabes with an escort of P-38 Lockheed Lightning fighters.

Reds Seize 13 Areas on Don

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Red Army has seized 13 more settlements from the Germans in the North Caucasus, where German-held Georgievsk was threatened with encirclement, and has broken a German salient thrust into Russian positions on the central front far to the north, a communique said today.

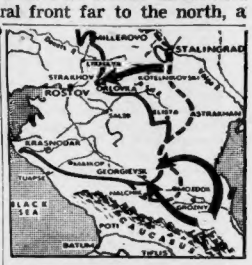
The advance down the lower Don continued despite desperate German efforts to block it 60 miles northeast of Rostov, it was reported. Another German-held community was gathered into the Russian lines in the lower Don area.

Bitter fighting preceded temporary success of the Germans on the central front. The communique acknowledged a wedge had been driven into the Red positions, but said a heavy Russian counter-attack forced the Germans back to original positions.

Russian capture of the 13 Caucasus settlements appeared to make German positions at Georgievsk still more precarious.

The Russians said they had captured Georgievskaya, four miles away, and other small towns forming a semi-circle around the railroad junction. Vast stores of German mines, ammunition and other equipment fell into Russian hands.

The Germans, who advanced down the Rostov-Baku railway last summer in quest of the oil of Grozny and Baku, already had withdrawn 75 miles from Mozdok to Georgievsk and apparently faced a new withdrawal to the northwest.



RUSSIA—The Red Army rolled to within 60 miles of Rostov today in offensives that have captured 12 towns and localities in the Caucasus and drives that have pushed through heavy Nazi counter-attacks in the lower Don basin.

JAP SHIP, PLANE LOSSES MOUNT

AUSTRALIA, Jan. 11 (AP)—Allied airmen boosted to 138 the Japanese planes shot down or crippled in four days of blazing action as they pursued the remnants of a battered Japanese convoy fleeing from New Guinea yesterday and scored bomb hits on two more ships, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The announcement put an emphatic period to previous reports which described the losses inflicted on the Japanese in their efforts to land reinforcements in northeastern New Guinea as one of the most remarkable Allied aerial exploits of the war in the Southwest Pacific.

The only discordant note in the sweeping Allied successes was the disclosure that Brig.-Gen. Kenneth N. Walker of Glendale, Cal., had failed to return from an aerial attack on Rabaul, New Britain, on Jan. 5, when he led a formation of Flying Fortresses and Liberators which damaged 50,000 tons of enemy shipping and shot down nine Japanese fighters.

Gen. MacArthur himself announced "with profound sorrow" that Walker was missing and said that the flier, whom he praised for exceptional leadership and courage, must be presumed lost.

OPA Plans Depots With Emergency Oil

With Boston's heating outlook brightened by arrival of new stocks, Lawrence J. Bresnahan, successor to Henry Parkman, Jr., as state director of OPA, today announced a new plan to ensure in the future against any household being cold for lack of oil.

At the same time Bresnahan expressed satisfaction at the way the public co-operated in the pleasure driving ban and declared the campaign "will be just as successful as the public will make it."

The new director said he would give to all district rationing boards a plan which already had been tested in the Worcester and Springfield areas, with day-and-night emergency oil stations set up in various sections.

OIL FOR EMERGENCY

Under the plan, if a householder runs out of oil and is unable to obtain any from a dealer, he calls his nearest police station, reports his plight and an investigator is sent to his home to check.

If the condition is found as reported, oil is sent the householder from the emergency station in that district, to tide him over until he can obtain supplies from a dealer.

The ban on pleasure driving was credited with speeding up delivery of huge new oil stocks due soon in Massachusetts.

Fuel administrators had no specific figure to show how the situation will change, other than the disclosure that a new consignment of kerosene—the most needed commodity at present—is already being delivered to wholesalers, but Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, state fuel oil conservator, declared:

"A substantial change for the better is in the offing this week in making oil distribution fairer and quicker."

AUTO BAN UP TO PUBLIC

OPA Director Bresnahan meanwhile gave what he said were gratifying figures in connection with violations of the "driving for fun" taboo, and commented:

"This is a people's campaign. It will be just as successful as the public will make it. It will be policed only as far as those who refuse to co-operate.

"This is a John Jones program and only a John Jones program. People must necessarily volun-

ERROL FLYNN'S GIRL ATTACK TRIAL OPENS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (INS)—Errol Flynn, Tasmanian-born star of numerous adventure films, was prepared for the opening of his Superior Court trial today on charges that he attacked two 'teen-age girls.

Flynn's defense to the charges are believed to hinge upon his own version of his relationship with Peggy Larue Satterlee and Betty Hansen, each 17, who claimed that he attacked them.

The Satterlee girl, who has appeared in films in minor parts, said Flynn assaulted her twice aboard his yacht, and Miss Hansen, a film-struck blonde from Lincoln, Neb., asserted that the handsome star was intimate with her in the bedroom of a British sportsman's Bel-Air mansion.

Judge Albert E. Still will hear the trial, expected to require at least two weeks. Jerry Giesler and Robert E. Ford will defend Flynn, while Deputy Dist. Attys. John Hopkins and Thomas W. Cochrane will handle the state's case.

Flynn has made no defense to the charges other than a vehement "not guilty" at both his municipal court hearing in November and his superior court arraignment early in December. At the conclusion of the preliminary hearing he asked his friends to stand by him until they had heard his side of the case.

The first day of the trial was expected to be devoted to the selection of a jury.

ELDRACHER, MOONEY IN NEW GROVE MOVE

Theodore Eldracher of Hillside st., Roxbury, a Boston building inspector and one of 10 defendants under indictment in the Cocoanut Grove disaster, today filed in superior court a plea in abatement and a motion to quash the indictment.

At the same time, former Judge Hugh D. McLellan, counsel for Building Commr. James H. Mooney, filed a bill of exceptions to the ruling of Judge Frank J. Donahue, refusing to dismiss the Mooney indictment charging neglect of duty.

The motions and pleas will be argued tomorrow at 10 a. m., when both defendants, if unsuccessful, are expected also to seek separate trials.

Eldracher, through his counsel, Bernard J. Killion, also filed for a bill of particulars, stating that in so doing he did not waive his rights for pleas and motions.

In his motion to quash the neglect of duty indictment, the building inspector pointed out that the indictment charged him as "being a public officer."

This he denied in the motion, claiming he is only a civil service employe and that his duties are "assigned to him at all times by the building commissioner and he has no discretion in his duties or the manner in which they are performed."

Under the plea in abatement, Eldracher points out that no offense in violation of the law had been committed by him at the time of the indictment.

Motions seeking to delay trial of their clients were expected to be filed by counsel for other of the defendants, with the deadline for filing of pleas and motions set for the close of court today.

At the same time Fire Commr. William Arthur Reilly announced today that Prof. Hoyt Hottel, combustion engineer of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who has been testing fabrics and furnishings of the Grove, will submit his report on Wednesday.

Reilly said he would resume his inquest that day into the Grove disaster, with Hottel giving his report at the session in fire headquarters.

Originally the Tech professor expected to have his report ready today, but he is in Virginia on government business and has notified his office he could not be back until tomorrow.

The expert's tests have been conducted with a view to determining what gases, if any, were released when hangings and leatherette coverings in the Grove burned.

She based her hope on a letter from Ralph, dated Dec. 18, although he was reported killed Nov. 8. She enlisted the aid of the Red Cross to conduct an extensive re-check to determine her son's fate.

He enlisted in the Coast Artillery Jan. 8, 1940, and served in Panama before joining the North African expeditionary force.

YANKS SWARM GUADALCANAL

By RICHARD TREGASKIS

WITH U. S. FLEET IN SOUTH PACIFIC, Jan. 6 (delayed) (INS)—American troops to reinforce Army and Marine Corps units at Guadalcanal island completed landing operations today.

A fleet of transports, protected by warships and covering aircraft, unloaded troops in a two-day operation occupying most of Monday and Tuesday (Jan. 4 and 5).

These reinforcements possibly thwarted an impending Japanese attack on Guadalcanal by means of a naval thrust from the north. Possibly, also, they have sealed the doom of those Japs still remaining on Guadalcanal.

F. D. Names Brown to Head OPA

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (INS)—President Roosevelt today nominated former Sen. Prentiss M. Brown (D.) of Michigan to be price administrator, succeeding Leon Henderson, whose resignation was announced almost a month ago.

The President also nominated Wiley Rutledge, judge of the Circuit Court for the District of Columbia, to be an associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, and named Edward J. Flynn of New York, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, to be minister of Australia and the President's personal representative with the rank of ambassador.

BYRNES' SUCCESSOR

Rutledge, 48-year-old native of Kentucky, takes the place on the Supreme Court bench vacated by James F. Byrnes, who resigned to become economic stabilization director last fall.

A Democrat, he was named to the circuit court for the District of Columbia by Presidetn Roosevelt, the nomination receiving Senate confirmation in April, 1939.

Rutledge was dean of the College of Law at Iowa State University when the President appointed him to the federal judiciary. Prior to that he had served on the law school faculties at the University of Colorado, Washington University, St. Louis and at Iowa.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

In a letter to Flynn released by the White House when his nomination was sent to the Senate, President Roosevelt wrote:

"Dear Eddie:

"I'm sending your nomination to the Senate on Monday as minister to Aunstralia.

"In addition, I am appointing you my personal representative with the rank of ambassador. I do so because in the very large area of the southwest Pacific I want to feel free to avail myself of your services in various other forms of activity, over and above your duties as minister.

"For example, Hon. Patrick J. Hurley, in addition to being minister to New Zealand, is a general in the Army, and I have used his services in many different places outside of New Zealand, proper and in ways and for purposes which do not fall directly under his ministerial capacity.

"Always sincerely,

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early in announcing the Flynn appointment explained that the New York political leader would replace the present minister to Australia, Nelson Johnson, who already has announced in Australia he is resigning to live in retirement in the U. S.

BERLE PLEA FOR SACRIFICE SPURS WAR FUND DRIVE HERE

The United War Fund campaign for $7,800,000—largest relief goal in the history of Greater Boston—moved forward with renewed vigor today after an inspiring address by A. A. Berle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, who pointed out that America owes its present safety to the sacrifices of other nations.

Dr. Adolf Berle

Had it not been for the gallant resistance of China and the United Nations of Europe, Berle told more than 1000 diners at a meatless banquet at the Copley Plaza Hotel, "this meeting in Boston would not be to offer relief, but to seek aid."

Flags of allied nations decorated the tables and many were garbed in the colorful costumes of their native lands.

Berle warned that if there is another war to come, "its beginning will be 50 Pearl Harbor expeditions against the principal cities of the United States."

"The blood of others bought time for the United States," the diplomat said, in pleading for contributions to the fund.

Gov. Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin were among scores of state and city officials who pledged their support to the United War Fund campaign.

"Raising money here means raising hopes both at home and abroad," Gov. Saltonstall said.

Mayor Tobin predicted success of the drive, declaring that people have already fallen into the spirit of sacrifice required by total war. As an example of that sacrifice, he pointed to the few private cars parked outside the hotel, asserting the diners had used other means of transportation to be present at the fund raising meeting.

NEW BRITAIN HUBBY FACES COURT AS TRIANGLE SLAYER

NEW BRITAIN, Ct., Jan. 11—Howard W. Smith, 49-year-old war plant guard, faced court arraignment on a murder charge today in the fatal shooting of James Thompson, 35. Smith told Detective Michael J. Flynn that he shot Thompson after finding him under a bed in his wife's apartment.

Smith himself reported the shooting to police, Flynn said. The war plant guard, according to the detective, said he came home unexpectedly when he missed his badge from his uniform and believed he had left it on a shirt at home. Smith said he had left his wife alone in their apartment and had been gone about an hour. He is employed at the New Britain Machine Co.

When he returned home, Flynn said Smith told him, he found his wife moving about the apartment, and the policeman quoted him as saying, "She appeared to be upset."

Flynn said Smith gave this account of the developments:

"She told me there was nothing wrong. We were standing near the bedroom door and I noticed a movement under the bed. It appeared to be something covered with a blanket.

"I made a kick at it and shouted 'get out.' Thompson stood up and I pulled my gun and shot him under the eye."

Dr. Clifton M. Cooley, medical examiner, said an autopsy showed the bullet went through the eye and hit the spinal column.

Dr. Cooley said Thompson's body had no shoes on when he viewed it.

STRUCK BY AUTO, GIRL, 16, NOW IN 19TH DAY OF COMA

COLDWATER, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP)—For 18 days, Donna Lee Simonds' family has kept a vigil at her hospital bed, hoping that on one of the rare occasions when she opens her eyes she will show a sign of recognition.

Donna, 16, has been unconscious since she was hit by an automobile the night of Dec. 23.

Hospital attendants reported little change in her condition today as she passed her 432d hour of unconsciousness.

Donna was on her way to the theater with 5-year-old Patricia McKeath, whom she was taking care of that evening, when a car struck them just as the girls were preparing to cross the street. Patricia was not injured seriously.

Physicians said that Donna apparently suffered a head injury which created a pressure on her brain. Occasionally she will open her eyes and swallow a sip of water but she gives no indication of noticing those about her.

3 DIE, 48 MISSING ON MERCHANT SHIPS

Mingled hopes and fears were expressed today by relatives of 48 New England men recorded as missing in the latest U. S. Merchant Marine casualty list, released by the Navy Department. In addition, three Massachusetts men were listed as killed.

Some wives and parents declared they have confidence their loved ones will eventually return, since many on the list have survived previous torpedoings and near-death experiences. A few, however, sorrowfully gave up hope.

From Nov. 22 to Dec. 1, 310 casualties occurred among the merchant mariners. The list brought to 3211 the number of casualties reported to next of kin from Sept. 27, 1941, to Dec. 21, 1942. This total consists of 491 dead and 2720 missing.

All three New Englanders listed as dead were Massachusetts residents, including a Boston radio operator, a Lynn seaman and a Holyoke fireman, and 35 of the 48 New Englanders listed as missing also were from Massachusetts.

The dead were: Andrew Tocco, 39 Stillman st., North End; Lawrence Olsen, 20 Linden st., Lynn, and Raymond Maheu of Newton st., Holyoke.

SIX YEARS IN SERVICE

Tocco, 26-year-old High School of Commerce graduate, had been in the Merchant Marine six years and had not been home on furlough for six months. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tocco; three brothers, Joseph, Jr., also in the Merchant Marine; Vincent and Salvatore, and two sisters, Grace and Pietrina.

Maheu, also 26 and also in the Merchant Marine for six years, lost his life when the ship aboard which he was a firemen was torpedoed in the Atlantic, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Maheu of 125 Newton st., Holyoke.

The youth, his parents said, had escaped two previous torpedoings without injury, the second last April.

Olsen, a veteran of 20 years at sea, was 36 and single. A native of New Brunswick, he made his home with a sister, Mrs. Daniel P. Gorman.

WIFE GIVES UP HOPE

Among those listed as missing were a Roslindale man and a Fall River mariner who also had survived previous torpedo attacks, a former North Easton seafarer who went to the South Pole with Admiral Byrd in 1934, and a Danvers sea captain.

The Roslindale mariner, James King, 51, of Rome st., cheated death in World War I, by floating three days on a barrel after his ship was torpedoed.

She has no hope that her husband may still be alive, Mrs. Leanore King said sorrowfully because a fellow crew member, rescued and returned to this country before announcement of the casualty list, told her he knew King was killed.

The Danvers sea captain listed as missing is Capt. William A. Sillars, son of the late Capt. Malcolm and Mrs. Sarah E. Sillars. A graduate of the Massachusetts Nautical Training School, Sillars was made a captain at the age of 28 and has served 20 years in the Merchant Marine. His wife is the former Jean Hannington of New York. They were married in 1931. Two sisters of Capt. Sillars reside in Danvers.

STILL HAS HOPE

Capt. Sillars served on the same ship with Lieut. Carl F. Zieth, former mayor of Milwaukee, who abandoned his political career to become a Chief Naval Gunner and who is also reported missing. Members of the Captain's family have not given up hope that he has been rescued.

Also listed among the missing is Norman J. Boucher, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Boucher of 590 Durfee st., Fall River, who was aboard a ship sunk by enemy action last Nov. 2, after surviving the sinking on Oct. 9 last. He was being sent back to this country.

A seaman, Boucher was graduated from the B. M. C. Durfee High School, Fall River, enlisted in the Merchant Marine nearly two years ago.

TRACK STAR MISSING

Midshipman Peter J. Smith, 21, listed among the missing, is the son of Mrs. Annie Smith of 26 George ave., Norwood, and is a former Norwood high school track star. Due for a commission next month, the youth recently spent a furlough with his family. He has three brothers, one of whom, Edward, is an Army sergeant somewhere in the Solomon Islands, and two sisters.

Robert Hallion, 28, of Bradfield ave., Roslindale, is the son of Mrs. Isabelle Hallion and has three brothers in the service, Henry, 21, in the Navy, and Frank, 24, and John, 26, in the Army Air Corps. He is a graduate of the Roxbury Memorial high school.

LEAP VICTIM'S RITES PLANNED

WORCESTER, Jan. 11—Preparations were being made today for the funeral of Mrs. Phyllis Marie King, 28, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Prendergast of Abbott st. and a bride of six months, who plunged to her death from a New York hotel.

Her husband, Pvt. James F. King, was recently assigned to duty at Camp Edwards.

Mrs. King, who relatives said had been in ill health, was discovered missing at about the hour her body was found on the sixth floor terrace of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

Police of that city reported that she registered under the name of "Phyllis Pyne" and took a room on the 21st floor. Officers found her gray coat, a sweater and other clothing, from which labels had been removed.

However, she was carrying a watch marked "J. F. K." and a brass button inscribed "Worcester Police Department." Patrolman Anthony Prendergast of Worcester went to New York and identified her as his sister.

A graduate of the Boston University College of Liberal Arts and formerly employed in Worcester as a secretary, Mrs. King had been making her home with her parents.

F. D. BIRTHDAY PARTIES SET

eDspite gas rationing, millions of Americans will "dance that others may walk" at 8000 parties throughout the United States Saturday, Jan. 30, to raise funds, through the celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday anniversary, for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

This year's celebrants will go to the birthday parties in hayracks, in horse-drawn sleighs, in carriages hauled out of storage, on bicycles, roller skates and tandems.

The largest parties will be held in key cities—in Boston, at the Garden; New York at the Waldorf-Astoria; Washington at the Mayflower, and St. Louis at the Municipal Auditorium.

In the 17 Eastern states, hit by the gas ban, many of the celebration committees are planning to give prizes for originality of the conveyance used. For the first time, the big celebrations will not be known as Birthday Ball, but Birthday Parties.

TOUHY MOVES FOR FREEDOM

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (INS)—John ("Jake the Barber") Factor and Leo Carr, a former Chicago policeman and one-time chief of the Illinois highway patrol, were to appear in Federal court today to testify in connection with another move by Roger ("The Terrible") Touhy to regain his freedom.

Touhy and Basil ("The Owl") Banghart, convicted of the kidnaping in 1933 of Factor, led the recent prison break from Stateville but were recaptured with three others after two of their fellow criminals were shot to death by the FBI.

Touhy's attorney, Joseph Harrington, maintained the kidnaping was a "hoax" and that Factor, facing extradition to England at the time on swindling charges, conceived the idea to create sympathy in his own behalf.

Touhy and Banghart were sentenced to 99 years each for the kidnaping of the little speculator. Banghart, following his capture Dec. 29, was reportedly sent to Alcatraz Island in San Francisco Bay to serve a term for mail robbery.

Raid Leaves Essen Smoking

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Essen, site of the great Krupp armament works, lay smoking today under the effects of a devastating bombardment by the RAF, which unloaded a great weight of bombs—including two-ton "blockbusters"—on the city Saturday night in the fifth raid on the Ruhr in seven nights.

Pilots returning from the assault, which was carried out under excellent weather conditions, said they had left vast fires raging in the Essen industrial area, some of them visible for 100 miles.

The number of planes which took part in the raid was not officially disclosed, but the acknowledgement that seven were lost might be taken as an indication that upwards of 140 or 150 participated. The airmen reported they were met by heavy anti-aircraft fire and swarms of German night fighters.

KEEP BUTTER IN U. S., PLEA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Butter for the home folks and oleomargarine for those abroad is the aim of Sen. LaFollette (P.) of Wisconsin.

In a letter to Secretary Wickard, made public today, the Senator said that while an important part of the war effort was in the feeding of the Allies, "I strongly urge you to take the necessary action to preserve our butter supplies for our own armed forces and domestice consumption."

Secretary Wickard recently directed creameries to reserve 30 per cent of their butter production for war purposes.

"The order . . . made it clear," said LaFollette, "that it is expected the government will export to foreign nations this year about 170,000,000 pounds of butter under the lend-lease program."

"This anticipated exportation of butter in the face of the present acute butter shortage," he said, "and the growing use at home of various substitutes for butter, raise some important questions which I feel require your most earnest consideration as food administrator in the interests of the American dairy farmers, who are straining their resources to the utmost to supply their share of the nation's food requirements."

LaFollette said that the use of butter substitutes "has been consistently discouraged as a matter of public policy," and that "the fruits of all these past efforts will be threatened with complete destruction, if now, in a period of shortage, we send our butter abroad and force our own people to use butter substitutes."

Labor Assured On Pay Freeze

New England war workers are assured that instead of arbitrarily freezing wages, the War Labor Board and other government agencies controlling large labor groups will hold to a "middle of the road" course whenever the question of pay comes up.

This was made clear when officials of the War Manpower Commission, wages and hours administration and War Labor Board conferred with Joseph A. Salerno, state CIO president, and other labor leaders in Boston.

Louis R. Becker, chief economist for the New England WLB headquarters, said a "wage freeze would continue existing wage inequalities and wage discriminations."

TWO BROTHERS MEET IN AFRICA

Africa may be the Dark Continent to geographers, but it sure has its bright moments. At least, the parents of two Roxbury soldiers, and the soldiers themselves, think so.

For nearly two months Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Flanders of Brunswick st., Roxbury, were without word of their son, James E., 24, one of five sons in the armed services.

Then there came a letter from son Albert, J., 25, who landed in North Africa with the first United States fighting contingents last November.

"YOU'LL NEVER GUESS"

Albert, a staff sergeant, opens his letter with: "You'll never guess what happened tonight . . ." But of course you have already guessed. Yet with hundreds of thousands of Yankee troops being sent to American battle outposts all over the world it seems that coincidence was certainly working overtime to bring the two brothers together in a primitive African city on a dark night.

"There's only one thing that can beat this wonderful news," Mrs. Flanders, who was personally presented with a five-star service pin by Mayor Tobin, declared today, "and that's a letter from Jimmy himself."

Pa Flanders is also anxiously awaiting Jimmy's first letter. Albert writes that his brother is attached to a transportation unit, and being a veteran railroad man Pa has a natural interest in all transportation.

Albert's letter, in part, follows:

"Somewhere in No. Africa"

Dear Ma:

You'll never guess what happened tonight! Well, I'll start at the beginning. It was about 4 p. m. I had just returned to the barracks to get ready to go to the show with the fellows.

"THERE WAS JIM!"

Suddenly I looked up and there was Jim standing there. Was I surprised! He sure looked swell. And were we happy to see each other! We pounded each other on the back and hugged each other till our arms were sore. We aren't kids, but we stood there looking at each other after a while with tears in our eyes.

We went to chow together, and then I took him to the show with me. I only left him a few minutes ago. He's quartered about a mile from here, and it looks like we may be together for some time. I certainly hope so.

It's funny how he came to find me. Jim said he was walking down the street in———when he noticed two other American soldiers. He decided he would ask them what outfit they were from. When they told him they were from the ———th Medical, he said he nearly fell down with surprise. He knew that the ———th was my unit.

Jim told me about meeting you in New York City just before he sailed. I'm going to try and see if Jim can't be transferred into my outfit. He's with a transportation unit now.

"WE'RE KEPT BUSY"

Well, Ma, things are about the same with me. We are kept busy, but not as busy as we were when we first landed.

Time goes by pretty fast, when you don't get a chance to see your watch . . . Well, mother dear, I'm going to close now because I know you'll want to get this news about Jim as soon as possible.

Give my love to Pa, and the girls and keep the mail coming.

Your loving son,
AL.

P.S. I think it was your prayers that brought Jim and me together out here. Keep praying.

BUSHMAN LETTER TO JUDGE IN EXTORTION CASE SCORED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)—A federal jury today had acquitted Channing Drexel Lipton, 25-year-old pianist, of attempting to extort $250,000 from Film Executive Louis B. Mayer.

Meyer Philip Grace, 39, former boxer, charged with being an accessory after the fact, also was acquitted. The jury failed to agree on the charge that Lipton sent a letter threatening bodily harm to Mayer.

F. X. Bushman

In receiving the verdict, Judge Leon Yankwich criticized Francis X. Bushman, movie star of the silent era, whom he said had sent him a letter pertaining to alleged blacklisting practices by Mayer.

SENDS MAYER LETTER

Lipton had testified during the case, which went to the jury last Friday, that he sent a letter to Mayer to cause him grief, because, he alleged, Mayer had caused Lew Lipton, his father, to be barred from employment in the motion picture industry.

The court disclosed that Bushman's letter contained the charge that he had been prevented from working in the major studios since 1925 by Mayer. It was written, said Judge Yankwich, after Bushman read accounts of Lipton's testimony in his own defense to the effect his letters were sent in revenge for the alleged blacklisting of the elder Lipton.

Lipton had testified he heard his parents often discuss blacklisting practices and that he became so embittered against Mayer he "dreamed of killing him in 700 different ways."

SAYS WORK DENIED

"This young man's dad was denied work in the studios—so I read several days ago," Bushman's letter declared. "This is the most deadly weapon wielded by the studio executives and the most feared by the acting profession.

"Several former stars, contemporaries of mine, committed suicide because of this cruel practice. There is no recourse. It is deadly and it is final. While I know that in my heart he has kept me from the major studios since 1925 I have no proof. There were no witnesses to our conversation."

After requesting that the latter be kept secret, Bushman continued:

"Please be as lenient as you can with this song writer. The method he used to "be even" proved he was no criminal at heart. It was just helpless fury. Why, I felt like tossing Mayer off the highest mountain."

While Grace was cleared Lipton may face another trial on the count charging him with sending a threatening letter through the mails. Decision on this will be made later this week by the United States attorney.

Probe $100,000 Taunton Fire

TAUNTON, Jan. 11—State Fire Inspector John N. Sullivan and Fire Chief Edward W. Gorey of Taunton today pressed investigation of the cause of the $100,000 blaze which swept the H. L. Green Co. department store.

Sullivan said flames apparently broke out in the center of the three-story brick building, located in the heart of the city, and spread fast in all directions.

Under treatment at Morton Memorial Hospital is Fireman Daniel Dorsey, who suffered a cracked spinal vertebra when Stanley Sinkoski, Fall River fireman, slipped from an aerial ladder and landed on Dorsey's back.

THREE CHEERS FOR YOU
from our men in uniform!

And thanks to you from Greyhound

★ for postponing your trip until after the Holiday rush ★

Thanks to you, a most critical period in wartime bus transportation has been passed with flying colors.

Just before Christmas, Greyhound asked you to "Give your Holiday trips to men in the service". And you who have learned to depend upon Greyhound for travel responded wholeheartedly.

Because you postponed such trips, thousands of men and women in the armed forces were able to go home by bus for precious hours with their loved ones.

While helping men in uniform, you also made travel smoother and more convenient for war workers and others whose trips could not wait. It's cooperation like this that makes it possible for Greyhound and other bus lines to carry on the tremendous mass-transportation job that is so essential to winning the war.

Now the Holiday rush is past, Greyhound will make every effort to see that the service you count on is available when you need it—with all the comfort and convenience that war conditions will permit.

We suggest, however, that you phone or call on your Greyhound agent well in advance of any trip. He can help you choose days and schedules that will be most convenient for you—and best for wartime travel.

Battleship Richelieu Fitted for Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The British radio reported early today that Vice-Adm. William A. Glassford, Jr., has inspected the damaged French battleship Richelieu at Dakar and has declared she is being fitted out now to make her serviceable.

The British broadcast, heard by CBS, added that Glasford said the battleship would not require much repair work.

NAVY SHELLS BLAST MUNDA ACK ACK GUNS INTO RUINS

By WILLIAM HIPPLE

GUADALCANAL, Jan. 5 (delayed) (AP)—Three Navy pilots who flew over Munda on New Georgia island during the U. S. fleet's shelling of Japanese positions there early this morning said it was "the most accurate big gun firing we ever have seen or ever hope to see."

A Navy communique Jan. 6 reported a successful pre-dawn bombardment by surface vessels the previous day of recently established enemy airfield at Munda, 150 miles northwest of Guadalcanal, but gave no details of the action.

The fliers said they believed not a single anti-aircraft battery protecting Munda was left untouched. They reported terrific damage to the airfield, its planes and dispersal areas.

Lieut.-Comdr. Dennis Crowley of Roanoke, Va., Lieut. George C. Duncan of Tacoma, Wash., and Lieut. Marvin Barnett, Tampa, Fla., were the pilots. During the shelling they spotted targets for the warships.

"The ships didn't need much help," Crowley said. "The first shell struck directly on the runway a third of the distance from the west end. Following shells worked toward the western end, then switched back and in neat succession ran the length of the runway down to the east end just like a plane taking off. That done, the firing next fell in a pattern on both sides, covering a large area around the field.

"Opening the attack, we dropped bombs at 12:50 a. m., and were answered with heavy anti-aircraft fire. On the dot of 1 a. m., the first U. S. ship fired a salvo.

We saw the tremendous and brilliant flash of an explosion on the runway. The ack ack stopped dead and never resumed. The Japs were surprised completely.

"Many must have been killed, while others headed for dugouts. I don't think any of them tried to take their planes off. That would have been suicide, for the field was much too damaged.

Lieut. Duncan said members of his plane crew cheered themselves hoarse as the shells hit their targets.

The ships threw so many salvos and the explosions on the ground were so heavy I smelled gunpowder thousands of feet up," he related.

When the firing at last was finished, the commander of the task force asked Crowley by radio, "How does it look?"

"It's wonderful," the flier answered. "It couldn't have been better."

62 ADMIT JOY RIDES

Bresnahan said that in Boston, Haverhill and Taunton on Sunday night, 251 cars were stopped by police and OPA inspectors. In Boston 25 drivers admitted they were out pleasure driving, and there were 31 similar admissions from drivers in Taunton and Haverhill together.

Ration books of those admitting pleasure driving will be revoked immediately, according to the state director, while the others stopped will be "investigated in routine."

In the Springfield area, out of 25 motorists stopped, six admitted driving for pleasure.

A look at the bare highways deserted city streets and empty parking lots easily sustained this belief. Police and OPA inspectors, reporting from various parts of New England, declared patriotic co-operation had made the week-end one unparalleled in the history of the auto in this region, so few pleasure cars moved.

But people weren't just staying at home. Thousands walked to church, thousands more crammed buses, street cars and "L" trains to make their visits or attend shows, 14,000 saw the Bruins play at Boston Garden.

MORE OIL TRAINS

Inspectors informed police that the checkup of motorists will continue unabated, but it was admitted the few hundreds who have been stopped were for the most part using their cars legitimately.

As a consequence, full trains of tank cars which formerly hauled gasoline to New England are now being prepared to carry vital fuel oil supplies.

Col. Sullivan and OPA officials cautioned that the situation was still "bad," especially in such cities as Brockton, Fall River and New Bedford, and that Boston is on a "day-to-day" delivery basis as far as range oil is concerned."

However, these householders who lined up at Roxbury oil depots or bought from pedlars all received their fair portions. In the West End and Charlestown, pedlars made deliveries without being mobbed by anxious customers, as happened last week.

TOBIN SEES HELP

Mayor Tobin, in Washington seeking permanent relief for the kerosene supply problem, said a system of regular shipments from Texas may soon be established. He and Mayor LaGuardia of New York were scheduled to appear before a special Senate committee investigating oil rationing.

Atty. John Russell, chief OPA enforcement officer, and his staff, meanwhile, started examining the names and statements taken by police during the first three days of the drive against pleasure motorists. Most of the drivers were stopped in Boston, Malden, Lawrence and Lowell.

Trunk highways were so devoid of machines that State troopers and inspectors had to move nearer the large cities for "business."

Victor Nelson, general manager of the Howard Johnson restaurant chain, said more than half of their 200 roadside establishments were closed. Similarly, lesser stands are closing down by the thousand along the East Coast.

State police reported that with the exception of buses and trucks, the highways were actually deserted for long periods except for early morning and evening when war workers were speeding to work.

COUNT CARS AT KENMORE

A survey at Kenmore sq. from 12:15 to 12:45 yesterday showed 119 cars passing through, 63 taxi cabs and 56 passenger cars, and a second count from 2:30 to 3 showed but 51 cabs and 34 private cars passing through the square, one of the busiest intersections in the state.

Under ordinary circumstances Sunday traffic through the square shows a count of 500 to 600 cars at corresponding half-hours.

Quincy police, it was reported, took numbers of more than 100 cars parked near amusement and dine and dance places in that city Friday and Saturday nights and will forward the numbers to the OPA for checking this morning.

In Boston, police, working with OPA inspectors Saturday night checking cars in the downtown area, reported 30 drivers for alleged violations of the "no fun driving" ban.

MacARTHUR DEALS CRUSHING BLOW TO JAP FLIERS AND SHIPS

By GLENN BABB

Determination of the Japanese to cling to dwindling footholds on New Guinea has set up one of the most significant Allied victories of the war in the Southwest Pacific. Four days of air combat of a ferocity unprecedented in that area have given striking proof of our air superiority.

The Japanese command, apparently having abandoned the hopelessly encircled remnants of its Buna-Gona army at Sanananda, attempted to run reinforcements and supplies over the deadly 300-mile course from its base at Rabaul, New Britain, to the Lae-Salamaua area.

To land at Lae troop elements described by an Allied communique as fragmentary the Japanese paid with the loss of at least half the vessels of their 12-ship convoy sunk or damaged, including a troop-jammed 14,000-ton transport sunk, and 138 aircraft destroyed or damaged.

LOSS OF FLIERS A BLOW

Some of these losses the enemy can ill afford, particularly the ships and the trained fliers. Although the monthly capacity of Japan's airplane industry probably is not more than one-tenth of our December output of 5500 planes, it can replace the planes lost.

But we know Japan suffers from a serious shortage of the ships she needs to keep the defenders of her outposts reinforced and supplied.

Her ship losses in this disaster are only a small part of those for the whole campaign against Gen. MacArthur's command, which a Washington tally puts at 85 non-combat ships and 19 warships, in addition to 353 airplanes.

Japanese shipyards, although engaged in a program of unprecedented size, cannot keep pace with such an expenditure of tonnage.

Perhaps the most damaging loss is in first line pilots.

"The enemy's interception was weak" was the significant communique from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters on the efforts of land-based Japanese planes, chiefly Zeros, to keep an umbrella over the badly mauled convoy as it fled back to Rabaul.

Evidence is growing that Japan has drawn heavily on her none too ample reservoir of trained, experienced combat fliers.

JAPS STILL POWERFUL

It would be dangerous to assume that the Japanese have shot their bolt in the air. They were badly underestimated at the beginning of the war and they may still have in reserve deadly new plane types and thousands of good fliers. But it is not likely.

They entered the war with an air force which had had three or four years of schooling in China, where they practiced against live targets with hardly any risk of retaliation, and were able to send several thousand experienced fliers into the campaigns for the Philippines, Malaya and the East Indies.

But a large proportion of those men are gone and the old China proving ground is not the same any more.

CONANT VICTORY PLEA SPEEDS HARVARD WAR GRADS ON WAY

"No sacrifice can be too great to insure victory in the shortest span of time possible."

With these words from President James B. Conant echoing in their ears, 450 Harvard graduates and undergraduates were warbound today after bidding farewell to their university in a special valedictory church service.

Stripped of all its traditional and hallowed ceremonies, the midwinter exercises were held in the quiet church erected as a memorial to 480 men who gave their lives for their country in World War I. Only members of the graduating class and those other students who are leaving college for duty with the armed forces were present in the memorial church.

Officials at the simple exercises in addition to President Conant, were Gov. Saltonstall, who read a lesson from the Old Testament, Maj.-Gen. Sherman Miles, commanding officer of the First Service Command, and Rear Adm. Wilson Brown, commandant of the First Naval District.

Caps and gowns were missing at the special commencement. Most graduates were clad in service uniforms, a few were in civilian clothing.

President Conant called upon the seniors, who approach graduation on Feb. 1, to "go forth and hasten the day of peace by prosecuting the war with ever-increasing vigor."

"Next in importance to achieving speedy victory stands the later perpetuation of the ideal for which we fight," he said. "I take it that you and I would agree that fundamentally this war is concerned with human freedom.

"It is the task of the United Nations to see to it that the system of totalitarianism will not dominate the world. It requires an ever-increasing stream of supplies to our allies and an ever-increasing body of our own fighting men."

MARINE TELLS HOW SAILORS GOT BAPTISM IN SUB ATTACK

The story of how a group of young American sailors received their baptism of fire in a four-day heavy attack by submarines on an east-bound convoy in mid-Atlantic has just been received from a U. S. Marine Corps combat correspondent, now stationed overseas.

By SERGT. FRANK ACOSTA, JR.
U. S. Marine Corps Combat Correspondent

AN OVERSEAS ATLANTIC BASE, Jan. 11—This is the story of an eastbound convoy:

The night before we weighed anchor, the passenger sailors were brought aboard, bound for duty overseas. Four or five were veterans of the last war, and several were transfers from other ships, but many others had never been to sea.

The first morning, the chief boatswain's mate mustered the passengers, gave them instructions on safety measures.

The young men hardly heard the warning. They were too excited about actually being at sea.

SUB SIGHTED

One night the word got around that a sub had been sighted 20 miles astern, and the next morning we heard a rumor that one of the escort vessels had had a direct sub contact only five miles astern.

The next evening most of the passenger-sailors were below in the crowded troop space. Then it started. The "GQ" buzzer went off, and we poured up the ladder and out on deck. The whole sea was lit up with flares from everywhere, trying to spot the sub on the surface. Depth charges were exploding every few seconds. The baptism was on.

Half-dressed, shivering, and wondering, we stood there at quarters 15 minutes before the escorts passed the word "all secure."

As soon as we got below again, the captain, over the ship's loud speaker system, ordered every man to sleep fully dressed with his life jacket nearby.

Two minutes later the buzzer went off again and the troop space was empty in half the time. Just as I hit the ladder I heard the speaker say, "Now y'hear there! Ship X-X has been torpedoed and the convoy is under attack!"

NO MORE SLEEP

There was no more sleep that night.

The worst scare that first night was the last one. Just at dawn one escort ship made a contact. She was racing around dropping depth charges, when there was a terrific explosion directly under us. The engines stopped, and I thought surely we were hit, but we soon discovered that the explosion was caused by a depth charge exploding close by.

That night was only the beginning. The convoy got no letup during the following 36 hours. The third day was quiet, but when it became apparent that the night would be clear, the captain ordered every man to sleep above the water line.

I found myself up on the boat deck in a corner back of the smoke stack. The wind was howling, and the sea rough. Then a flare went off to port and the "GQ" signal buzzed. There was a flame far out. Suddenly a jar rocked the ship from bow to stern. It felt like a direct hit on the keel.

SHIP WASN'T HIT

But the ship wasn't hit. We never found out what caused the shock. I asked the captain later, but he could only speculate.

Just at dusk, on the fourth night of the attacks, I was standing at the starboard rail. The ship next to us couldn't have been more than 150 yards away. Suddenly I saw a huge puff of smoke go up right on her starboard bow and heard an explosion. A minute later, her entire bow was aflame. The escorts came racing in, scattering depth charges, while the ship drifted, fighting the fire.

Early next morning American planes hove into view, and there were no further attacks.

'Buz' Wagner Rites Witnessed by 10,000

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 11 (AP)—Approximately 10,000 persons crowded into Grandview Cemetery here to pay final tribute to Lieut.-Col. Boyd D. (Buzz) Wagner, air hero of the Philippine campaign killed Nov. 29 in a routine flight from Elgin Field, La.

Thousands more lined the five-mile route from the home of Wagner's parents to the cemetery. Pallbearers were Army Air Force officers who had fought with Wagner in the Pacific or served with him in the United States.

ROOSEVELT ASKS RECORD VICTORY BUDGET OF $109,000,000,000

"presents the maximum program for waging war. We wage total war because our very existence is threatened. Without that supreme effort we cannot hope to retain the freedom and self-respect which give life its value.

"Total war is a grim reality. It means the dedication of our lives and resources to a single objective: Victory."

Emphasizing that all resources of the United States must be mobilized for the war effort, the President declared that the country was fighting for "community survival—national survival."

"In total war," Mr. Roosevelt said, "we are all soldiers, whether in uniform, overalls or shirt sleeves."

Mr. Roosevelt, at a special conference to explain the budget, explained that the amount of money to be spent on the war would be limited only by the amount of goods the war factories in this country were able to produce.

PASSING THE AMMUNITION

He denied the contemplated war expenditures were fantastic.

"Some persons may believe that such a program is fantastic," he continued. "My reply is that such a program is feasible."

He boasted, too, that the huge expenditures represented "the determination of the civilians to 'pass the ammunition.'"

The President split the budget message up to cover eleven broad phases of the wartime economy.

1—WAR EXPENDITURES — Mr. Roosevelt reported monthly war expenditures just after Pearl Harbor were $2,000,000,000, that they now exceed $6,000,000,000 and that they will average more than $8,000,000,000 a month during the fiscal year 1944.

"Victory cannot be bought with any amount of money, however large," he remarked. "Victory is achieved by the blood of soldiers, the sweat of working men and women and the sacrifice of all people. But a 100-billion dollars' expenditure does reflect a national effort of gigantic magnitude."

He said production short of military requirements would be "a betrayal of our fighting men." He gave assurance that war expenditure estimates would not reveal any information to our enemies.

WHERE MONEY GOES

He broke the war estimates down to $66,000,000,000 for munitions, including lend-lease; $21,000,000,000 for military and civilian pay, subsistence and travel; $2,000,000,000 for industrial construction; $3,000,000,000 for other construction; $6,000,000,000 for other purposes, including agricultural lend-lease — the total $100,000,000,000.

2—PROCUREMENT OF MUNITIONS — Declaring "manpower mobilization is now entering a much more difficult phase," the President forecast that during 1943 it would be necessary to draw approximately 6,00,000 additional workers into war and essential production—over and above present requirements for the armed services. This, he said, "can be obtained by transferring from less essential work, and by drawing into the working force people who have not recently sought employment."

"Vigorous action is required to mobilize and train our reserve of women and young people, to accelerate the transfer of workers to essential industries, and to reduce harmful turn-over and migration of workers in essential industries," Mr. Roosevelt asserted.

FUNDS FOR FARMERS

3—FARM AND FOOD PROGRAM—President Roosevelt instructed the Agriculture Department to use aid-to-farmer funds in such a manner as to reduce the production of less-needed commodities of a luxury nature and increase the production of foods and fibres which are essential to war and civilian needs.

"An adequate food supply," Mr. Roosevelt declared, "is a basic aspect of a total war program. He recounted that food production in 1942 was 29 per cent greater than in the average five-year period of 1935-39, and declared that 1943 production would increase 15 per cent above the present rate.

4—CIVILIAN CONSUMPTION —Despite unprecedented prosperity in the United States, with an estimated national income of $145,000,000,000 in fiscal 1943, President Roosevelt warned that goods and services available to individuals would be cut to $500 a year per person on the average. This, he said, would represent a 25 per cent cut in civilian consumption below the peak year 1941, and his statement implied greater universal rationing than has ever been hinted in official White House statements thus far in the war.

CONTROL IN TOTAL WAR

5—THE STABILIZATION PROGRAM—"We must assure each citizen the necessities of life at prices which he can pay," the President asserted, adding that "we shall continue those efforts and we shall succeed."

Declaring, however, "stabilization goes beyond effective price control," the President called on Congress to "implement that program by adequate legislation increasing taxation, savings, or both," in order to facilitate a pay-as-you-go income tax program and "make the coming peace easier for ourselves and our children."

6—CIVILIAN CONTROLS IN TOTAL WAR—"There is no easy, pleasant way to restrict the living habits—the eating, clothing, heating, travel, and working habits—of 130 million people," the Chief Executive recognized. But, he emphasized strongly, this must be done, for "total war requires nothing less than organizing all the human and material resources of the nation."

"More than 1,600,000—three-fifths of all federal civilian employes—are engaged directly in war production, while an additional 400,000 workers are engaged in the "task of civilian administration for total war," he declared.

4 PER CENT FOR NONWAR

7—NONWAR EXPENDITURES—Calling for proper perspective in viewing the total budget, the Chief Executive pointed out to newsmen that nonwar expenditures during the fiscal year 1943 would amount to a meager 4 per cent of total government spending. Further, he declared, "the nnowar classification now has little if any meaning" because "most of these expenditures are related to the war effort and many are directly occasioned by it."

He added that during the 12 months beginning July 1, 1943, "96 cents of every dollar expended by the federal government will be used to pay war costs and interest on the public debt, and only 4 cents for all the so-called 'nonwar' purposes."

8—INTEREST — "War financing," the President declared, "has raised the requirement for interest on the public debt from $1,041,000,000 in 1940, the fiscal year before the defense program started, to an estimated $1,850,000,000 for the current year and $3,000,000,000 for the fiscal year 1944 . . ."

TAX'S HARSH PINCH

9—FINANCING TOTAL WAR —In calling for additional taxes, and for the first time openly advocating a program of "forced savings," the President said his broad objective on the financial front was to "meet approximately 50 per cent of the expenditures during the fiscal year 1944."

He called upon Congress to provide—through tax laws—"not less than $16,000,000,000 of additional funds by taxation, savings, or both," during the year, and raise federal revenues from the $35,000,000,000 anticipated under present law to $51,000,000,000—more than half the $100,000,000,000 expected to be spent for war during the year.

He told his preview conference on the budget that part of the tax revenues from individuals, should, in fact, be war savings, to go back to the people who put up the money after the return of peace.

The fiscal program, he insisted, should be so designed by Congress to be a help rather than a hindrance to maximum war production.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO-TAX

10—NEED FOR A BALANCED AND FLEXIBLE REVENUE SYSTEM—"It," said the President, "is more important than ever before to simplify taxation both for taxpayers and those collecting the tax, and to put our taxes as far as possible on a pay-as-you-go basis." He urged fairness in distributing the new taxes and said present loopholes should be closed. He stated that any taxes paid by civilians comprised only "modest contributions" to victory compared to sacrifices of the fighting forces.

He estimated that the public debt will total $135,000,000,000 June 30, and $210,000,000,000 June 30, 1944. It was under this heading that Mr. Roosevelt said that the tax program would of necessity be "harsh."

11—PREPARING FOR VICTORY—The President again insisted that soldiers and war production workers want to be assured "that they will return to a life of opportunity and security in a society of free men."

"Freedom from want for everybody, everywhere, is no longer a Utopian dream," his message said. "It can be translated into action when the fear of aggression has been removed by victory."

But it was here, too, that the President warned that taxes could never be returned to a prewar level although there may be substantial reductions in postwar years. In conclusion, he told the Congress:

"We are as one in our desire quickly to win this war and to avoid passing on to future generations more than their just share of its sacrifices and burdens."

The Home Fronts and Global Strategy

By HERBERT HOOVER

SO IMPORTANT is the home front of the enemy in its bearing on our military strategy that by its correct or incorrect appraisal the lives of hundreds of thousands of American boys might be saved or lost. And healthy home fronts in the United Nations are essential to win the war.

HERBERT HOOVER
Sees Nations in Race Toward Exhaustion

The strategy in global war is not solely a military question. In total war between great nations, the home front is, in many ways, as important as the military front. Wars can be lost or won on the home front.

Great nations in total war, in addition to military forces, now pit against each other their total resources, the total emotions, the skill, the sacrifice, the work of every adult civilian. It becomes a contest of strength, spirit and endurance of civilians against civilians, as well as between armies and navies.

Today the only limitation on the size of the military forces is the number of men who can be spared from the two jobs of producing arms and supplies for the military front and keeping the civil population alive.

The United Nations have now closed iron rings around the European and the Asiatic Axis. But both of them still have tremendous powers of defense through their powerful armies with interior lines of communication and their air and submarine protection from overseas' invasion. Japan has, in addition, great naval strength.

With the occupation by the United Nations of bases in North Africa and the Pacific, with the growth of our naval, air and ground strength, the ring around them grows closer and closer. But for some time to come the war is obviously a war of aggressive attrition and the creation of conditions favorable for major combat blows.

That attrition is just as vital on the home front as on the military front. And our powers of attrition and combat are increasing more rapidly than the Axis.

EXPERIENCE both in the last war and in this war shows that after a certain period steady economic degeneration sits in on the home fronts of all nations engaged in total war.

In the earlier years the military strength of each nation grows steadily. Production of arms increases. But at some stage, probably about two years, the military strength reaches its maximum size and from there on it diminishes. Likewise, at some point, industrial production reaches its zenith. Even more rapidly than armies waste away after their zenith, the industrial machinery, the resources and the productive capacity of the civilian population wear down.

On the home front of all nations, shortages in food and other consumption goods grow progressively due to diversion of manpower. Armed men consume more than when they were civilians. The people must work longer and longer hours at harder and heavier labor. Movement is restricted. Rationing, price and wage restrictions are inevitable. Regimentation becomes steadily more onerous and economic dictatorship grows increasingly as war goes on.

On the spirtual side grief stretches into every family; emotions become more fragile and intolerant; criticism, freedom of speech become more and more frozen.

All these forces are multiplied in civilians by terror of attack from the air and destruction of their industries.

In the end the multiplication of civilian hardships—in some degree universal to all nations—becomes a race between them toward exhaustion. The Germans are in the fourth year of war. We have had one year.

And in this race of exhaustion, the home front of the greatest staying power, of the greatest resources, of the greatest will to endure and fight is a vast support to the military arm. The weak home front becomes a disintegrating liability to its military arm. That was the case of the Allies versus the Central Powers in 1918.

(Tomorrow, in this column, Mr. Hoover will continue his analysis of war strength and strategy.)

The rose has a summer reign,
The daisy never dies.
—MONTGOMERY.

WORDSWORTH described the daisy as "The Poet's Darling." However, the old boy was a little off the beam as there have been about 50 times as many poems about roses as there have been about daisies. There have been hundreds of songs about roses, but the only one I ever heard about daisies was "Daisies Won't Tell." At one time Daisy was a popular name. That was about the time the song "A Bicycle Built for Two" was written. The heroine of that ditty was named "Daisy" . . . Winston Churchill did not marry until he was 34. Perhaps he agreed with Aristotle who said: "It is fitting for the women to be married at about the age of 18, and the men at 37 or a little before." . . . Now they are saying Greer Garson has the most beautiful legs in Hollywood. Why don't they have a Hollywood beautiful legs contest to decide this matter and then try forget about it? The world is full of women with beautiful legs. But not so many have beautiful eyes. Nor are many blessed with beautiful hands.

ASIDES: There is a book called "Two Hundred and Fifty Ways to Cook Potatoes." Too bad there isn't one titled "Two Hundred and Fifty Ways to Cook Chicken." We had chicken five times last week. It was the only kind of meat the butcher had . . . It was of Lady Elizabeth Hastings that Steele said: "To love her is a liberal education." Have you ever met a woman like that? Don't answer me. I just mentioned it to inspire you to revive some pleasant memories . . . "Marlene Dietrich, 38-year-old Movie Queen, Is Champion Bond Seller" is what a caption under a photo of the glamorous actress states. Why did the caption writer feel impelled to tell Miss Dietrich's age? That's no way to treat a champion bond seller.

CLOTHES RATIONING is said to be just around the corner. This type of rationing has no particular terrors for men, but is the cause of much concern among the female population. In England, where they have had clothes rationing for some time, the women have been making dresses from curtains, furniture coverings and blankets. They also make suits from clothes left behind by men who have joined the army. Bachelors in this country who are about to join the Army should get good prices for their civilian clothes. I understand a clever woman can make a very nifty looking outfit from a man's suit. The clothes of married men joining the forces will be quickly taken over by their wives. Married men not going to war should keep their suits under lock or key or they will come home some night and find the little lady has taken one to make herself a spring outfit.

WHAT'S COOKIN'? Hearing about what our boys are doing to the Japs in the Solomons is encouraging and inspiring. But what are the Japs doing in Singapore? What are they constructing there? How are they getting along as to the realizing on the oil, rubber and tin producing territories they captured? That's what I would like to know. Looks to me as if the wily Nipponese are marking time as to actual fighting and are going in for producing to get ready for a big push in 1944. Or maybe in 1945. The Japs take a very long view of this war. They are not doing any spouting about peace in 1943.

PASSING BY: Lena Horne. Sepia song bird. One of the six best singers in night club history. Lena was born in Brooklyn, which has been the birth place of more successful stars of sport, stage, screen, radio and cafe entertainment than any three other cities in the United States. If you want to bet, just put up the stogies and we will start checking . . . Fannie Hurst. Literary luminary. Miss Hurst has no difficulty in turning out best sellers. Her most difficult task is keeping her figure streamlined. She is always on a diet. Remember her book "No Food with My Meals"? Incidentally, while the saying has been credited to Alexander Woollcott and many others, it was Miss Hurst who first said: "Everything I like is illegal, immoral or fattening."

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Longevity expert says doctors in the United States live on an average two years less than the rest of the population. That's not true of British doctors who, according to a study of the matter, live on an average of five years more than the rest of the population . . . Don't know the figures on longevity of newspapermen, but not so long ago I read a statement by a life insurance expert in which he said a working newspaperman was about as good an insurance risk as a deep sea diver . . . Note that a writer on subject of "How to Make a Speech" takes about 6000 words to get his ideas over. The Rev. John Leifchild covered the subject completely with much less wordage than that. He instructed speech makers to act as follows:

Begin low, speak low,
Take fire, speak higher,
When most impressed
Be self possessed,
At the end wax warm
And sit down in a fizzle.

ERRS IN USING AUTO, BUT FROM NOW ON SHE'LL WALK PLACES!

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

(Copyright, 1943, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Sunday—Like every other family, we in the White House are trying to adjust to the new war rules for civilians. I had not read my paper the other evening and so I went out to a concert in the way in which I would ordinarily have gone.

To my horror the next morning I read all the rules and realized I had unwittingly broken one of them, using a car for pure pleasure even though I went to a war benefit.

Friday evening I dined with a friend but luckily it was near enough to walk both ways. During the day it was possible to walk to my only other engagements outside the White House. Yesterday morning I had promised to speak to a group of young people who are doing salvage work. I also had an appointment out at the naval hospital. Fortunately the two dovetailed very nicely and I think this is the last time I shall have to use a car in Washington, for anything aside from taking bags to the station, until the present emergency is over.

MRS. ROOSEVELT

As far as food goes, I find the adjustment to those regulations is very easy and I do not think we will have to resort to the substitutes which one of my friends in Great Britain told me about. In spite of the strict rationing, she wrote that she was entertaining some 32 extra people nearly every week at meals, which required a good deal of planning since there were only three or four ration cards in her family. But she had a cottage with a garden in the country and has been able to bring up from there a variety of vegetables.

Their growing season is longer than ours, which makes a great difference. Besides, she found she could serve as a main dish stuffing, well seasoned with herbs grown in her garden and covered with a rich brown sauce.

There is undoubtedly a great deal of talent scattered throughout our armed forces today, but I doubt if any young man in any army wrote as many rhymes and sent them around at Christmas time as did Pvt. Peter McLaren Forin of Buffalo, N. Y., who is in the Canadian army. I think it speaks well for our fighting forces when a private can send Gen. Wavell a Christmas poem and get an answer and that answer comes in rhyme.

A few people dropped in for lunch yesterday and then I put in a full afternoon of work at my desk. My friend, Mrs. George S. Huntington, is with us for a short visit. It is wonderful to see the spirit in which, dispite having undergone many operations and the need of a cane, she has achieved walking. She manages to go quite a number of blocks and to use public conveyances. As a result she is not cut off entirely from what she wants to do even during the period of present restrictions.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: At the risk of being charged again with being a "sweetness and light boy" and an indestructible optimist, your correspondent begs leave today to call attention to his theory that whereas doing "favors" is much of the fun in life, there's another angle to it . . . The angle is that one will be repaid in kind in more cases than not for trying to do good to others . . . A Master said it all much better than it has been said since, in the memorable quotation which begins: "Bread cast(eth) upon the waters!" . . . For instance:

IT WAS A PLEASURE TO SHAKE the hands of two old compatriots and fellow-thinkers by the names of Dick Howard and Benjamin V. Drohan . . . Boston at large—and part of Boston that isn't—knows the great Drohan for the genial soul, indomitable wit and Fred Allen Fan No. 1 that he is . . . Drohan once was the most promising comedian off Broadway . . . Like Allen, he was making a living—but a better one than Fred—as a comic in small-time theaters throughout New England and the eastern Canadian provinces . . . Unlike Allen, he never braved Broadway.

AS FOR DICK HOWARD . . . Consider these two facts, and you will have a song publisher's eye view of Dick Howard . . . In 1932, he wrote his 137th popular song . . . (We are speaking now only of those which have been published) . . . Saturday night he finished his 138th popular song, and it is going to be published . . . Yes, there was an 11-year gap . . . What was his 137th published song . . . ? . . . You heard it constantly on the hit parades in 1942 . . . It was entitled "Somebody Else Is Taking My Place" . . . As to that 138th song . . . It was in the interest of this ditty that Mr. Drohan, Mr. Howard in hand, sought out this reporter Saturday night . . . The two had something they wished protected, and they figured—correctly, perhaps—that this column could be helpful . . . "Dick here has done a noo toone," glowed Mr. Drohan . . . "T's a bee-yooty, melad, and as it concerns your native South Boston and the scenes of your childhood, you should be interested in hearing it.

"BUT THAT CAN COME LATER . . . Right now, Dick would appreciate it if you would make known in your column that he has written a song, words and music, by the name of 'The Spire of St. Augustine' . . . If by chance some other genius should happen on the same title, (or the same song), before Dick has a chance to get this one published, a note in your column will protect him from such wolves" . . . That was all . . . Simple, enough, and herein may it be announced to all who may be concerned that "The Spire of St. Augustine" is a new song with words and music by Dick Howard.

THEN IN THE SIMPLE DOING of an easy favor, came repayment in the form of as great a human interest story as you will ever hear from a denizen of Tin Pan Alley . . . The only reason that it has not been read before is that, obviously, songwriters as a group have no idea of news value . . . In telling it, Dick Howard didn't appreciate how interesting it really was . . . It seems that Dick, himself, was called upon a year ago to do a favor . . . He had submitted a song to Shapiro-Bernstein, the song-publishers, by the name of "I'm Blue for the Old White Mountains, and the Two Red Lips I Love!" . . . Get it?" . . . Patriotic angle . . . Blue for . . . White Mountains . . . Red lips . . . Reading backwards, the good old red, white and blue! . . . The publishers asked Dick not to peddle his song along Tin Pan Alley because it might interfere with the progress of a song for which high hopes were held, a number entitled: "There'll Be Blue Birds Over—the White Cliffs of Dover!" . . . White Mountains and white cliffs, blue birds and blue for . . . There was a similarity.

DICK IS AN OBLIGING FELLOW . . . He expected nothing but the good will of some gentleman with whom he had been happily associated in business some years ago . . . He liked his "White Mountain song," but as a hit-writer of some years ago, he realized that the "White Cliffs of Dover" song was a "natural" . . . He agreed to withdraw his "White Mountain song" from circulation . . . It might be good a few years hence, after the "Dover song" had run its course . . If not—oh, well! . . . Mr. Howard doesn't remember whether Shapiro-Bernstein or himself had the inspiration for an afterthought . . . He thinks it may have been the grateful publishers . . . But the afterthought—a very valuable one indeed, was this . . . In appreciation for Dick's act of co-operation, Shapiro-Bernstein would "plug" an old song of Dick's which was resting on their shelves—thousands and thousands of copies of it . . . The song, of course, was "Somebody Else Is Taking My Place" . . . So what happened? . . . "The White Cliffs of Dover" and "Somebody Else Is Taking My Place" raced neck and neck for weeks and weeks in a battle for the honor of being the No. 1 Song of the country . . . As we started to say, there are more practical rewards than inward satisfaction oftimes in "doing favors" . . . Starting to help a couple of guys along, we stumbled across the best human interest story of the year from that fine source of fine yarns, Broadway's Tin Pan Alley.

COLE PORTER SHOW BOUGHT FOR BETTY GRABLE

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11—The very night the new Cole Porter musicale, "Something for the Boys," opened, 20th Century-Fox plunked down a goodly sum and bought it for Betty Grable. The reviews on the show dubbed it "another musicale sensation." Word of the song hits by Dorothy and Herbert Fields was being whispered in New York even when I was there a month ago after the preview given to a few of Cole Porter's chosen friends.

The purchase marks the first time Betty has had a vehicle of the importance of the Porter show bought for her. It indicates how she stands at the box office and how great is her popularity with the fans. In the stage play Ethel Merman has the lead and Allen Jenkins, one of our Hollywood lads, has a featured role.

RANDY SCOTT took one look at the 70,000 feet of film Universal has reposing in their safe on the "Corvettes" and was delighted to play the virile commander in "Corvettes In Action."

The action is terrific and Randy is glad that Richard Rosson, who filmed these authentic scenes in the North Atlantic, will direct him, with Howard Hawks at the producer's helm.

"Corvettes" are the small, hundred-foot vessels that accompany convoys on transatlantic trips and fight off submarines and airplanes. Rosson photographed authentic movies of this on one of his five trips abroad.

WHEN IT COMES to original ideas the man nearest in creative ability to the late Wilson Mizner is Robert E. Hopkins, known in Hollywood as "Hoppy."

On the M-G-M lot the other day I heard about a new story he had whipped up—of a man and wife who both run for governor at the same time. The wife had been the great man's secretary and it was her advice that gave him his political power.

Irene Dunne is the choice for the lady governor. And that reminds me—I hear that after all this talk of Irene being in and out of "The Thin Man" it looks now as if she will be Bill (Nick Charles) Powell's Nora in the next of the series.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Poor Gregory Ratoff is having his troubles. He has, what he thinks, is a crackerjack story in "Russia," the movie he is directing for Joe Pasternak and M-G-M.

First Greg was all set to have Greta Garbo. Then it was decided that Hedy Lamarr, who is so popular at the moment and under contract to M-G-M, would be better for the part. Now Hedy is suing M-G-M for an interpretation of her contract and she is out of the picture.

A LINE OR TWO: Just how much do critics' reviews mean? "Random Harvest" didn't fare too well at the hands of a few of the New York scribes, yet the movie threatens to break all records. It is in its third week and still going strong. The award given Agnes Moorehead for the best performance of the year by the New York writers was received with uplifted brows in Hollywood, to put it mildly. She was eerie and different, but compare her with Greer Garson or Bette Davis or Teresa Wright, and in most people's opinion she wouldn't be in the same class. Interesting the way the public has scolded the choice of Miss Moorehead, disagreeing 100 per cent—at least in my letters . . . Amazing how quickly letters are received from foreign zones. One, received from Maj. Martin from somewhere in Australia, is dated Dec. 29. He writes of Christmas in a faraway hospital and the way the doctors and nurses kept the Yuletide spirit for the American boys by putting up a cypress tree trimmed in cotton and then singing Christmas carols for the service men so far away from home.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Maureen Elizabeth Reagan, two-year-old daughter of Jane Wyman and Lieut. Ronald Reagan, entertained 25 children at her birthday party. Can it be love between her and Daniel Milland? Anyway, the hostess enlivened things by hauling off and letting Daniel (Ray's two-year-old son) have one. He blew out all the candles on the cake before Maureen had a chance and it was more than she could bear.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: George Montgomery's sister, Lyda, will wed Jay Palermo next month at the Russian Orthodox Church; Ginger Rogers is down with laryngitis and can not work until she gets her voice back; Gordon Bau, head makeup man at Warners, has done a marvelous job adding 20 years to 20-year-old Alexis Smith for her role in "Mr. Skeffington"; Mona Maris has a rich Chicago businessman sending her orchids; Red Skelton shows up nightly, all by his lonesome, at the Biltmore Bowl—just to see Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard; Tommy Manville has been calling Fran English long distance like mad. Oh Dear! Why doesn't he divert that energy to war work? That's all today. See you tomorrow!

SO MANY MEN have gone back to basic training that the gals are doing the same. It wasn't so very many years ago that a girl was judged on her ability to sew a fine seam and find the shortest way to a man's heart by cooking culinary delights.

The war has caused a return of these basic feminine attributes. Up at the Women's Republican Club on Beacon st., one of the most popular activities is a course on war-time cookery which is being given every Tuesday morning by Mrs. Horace Skilton. Some of the topics of the course are how to meet the meat situation, shifting to thrift and entertaining without benefit of a well-stocked pantry shelf.

Among those enrolled in the course, open to anyone interested in these current domestic problems, are Mrs. George R. Fearing, Mrs. John L. Osborn, Mrs. George A. Young, Mrs. George E. Ewing, Miss Esther J. Belair, Miss Florence Jewett, Miss Mary E. Leehan, Mrs. Clarence Hunt, Mrs. Henry H. Newell, Mrs. Stanwood G. Wellington and Miss Rosamond Coolidge. Mrs. Isaac Patch is chairman of the club's war service committee which not only sponsors the cookery course but also a course in Red Cross Nursing Wednesday and Friday mornings.

THE MERCHANT SEAMEN benefit from the sewing of Mrs. George W. Barker of Newton and her committee of women interested in the Boston Seaman's Friend Society. To date they have made over 500 comfort bags which they fill with personal effects, such as shaving cream, soap, sewing kits—yes, seamen are their own seamstresses when on the high seas—and distribute to merchant mariners who visit the Seaman's Rest on Hanover st. On shipboard the seaman usually has no locker for his personal belongings and these things are contained in a comfort bag which hangs beside his bunk.

Assisting Mrs. Barker in making and filling the bags and interesting others in providing needles and thread, first aid equipment, safety pins, buttons and others paraphernalia to put in them, are Mrs. Maynard Crossland of Roxbury, Mrs. Stile F. Kedy and Mrs. Clarence E. Paddock of Melrose. Mrs. Barker is one of the vice-presidents of the society together with Mrs. Arthur H. Brown, Miss Edith F. Downing, Mrs. Jessie E. Ida, Mrs. Percy C. Campbell, Mrs. William Leslie and Mrs. Samuel Smith. Mrs. Rufus A. Dyer and Mrs. Harris M. Barnes are recording and corresponding secretaries and Mrs. Arthur B. Marsh, treasurer.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Mrs. Richard H. Bigelow of Dover, who is giving most of her spare time to volunteer clerical work for the United War Fund, was shopping for non-run rayons downtown the other day. Her cosy fur coat topped a deep green wool dress with which she wore a matching hat. Post-deb Helen Mitchell of Newton Center, subwaying to town, was dressed in a modish green Lanz of Salzburg outfit complete to heart shaped hat appliqued with tiny red flowers. Mary Frances Ludwig, in the hat-of-the-month, revealed that she is planning to take a secretarial course now that the Junior League play in which she took a leading part, is over. Her hat was a Dutch cap of royal blue satin emblazoned with small gold ornaments.

Navy Epic on Newsreel Bill

Old South Newsreel screen currently is featuring "The Navy and the Nation," latest March of Time release which graphically tells the story of how the Navy is delivering the fighting goods to the fighting men.

Guarding the endless march of convoys across the trackless wastes of the world's oceans, carrying tools and weapons of war, are the naval escorts . . . planes, ships and men of the United Nations. Co-ordinating all this traffic and naval strategy is the Navy Department in Washington, where officials under Secty. Frank Knox plan every minutest detail.

Hedy Lamarr in 'White Cargo' On Loew's Screens Thursday

A tropical heat wave is headed for Boston in the person of Tondelayo, the sultry seductress of Leon Gordon's "White

HEDY LAMARR AND WALTER PIDGEON
"White Cargo"

Cargo," which the playwright has adapted for the screen from his own 23-year-old stage "shocker."

"White Cargo" moves into Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters on Thursday and the MGM drumbeaters are assured that it will decrease, in a measure, the local shivering and teeth-chattering superinduced by the eastern oil shortage. Could be. Hedy Lamarr, you see, plays Tondelayo, a dark-skinned creature of almost sinister allure, wearing a seven-ounce lurong (Studio Designer Kalloch's version of Dorothy Lamour's sarong).

Walter Pidgeon is cast as the two-fisted, hard-working rubber plantation supervisor, Witzel, whose veddy British assistants are always being driven nearly insane by the jungle . . . and the inescapable fascination of Tondelayo.

Two of the more recent victims are Bramwell Fletcher and Richard Carlson. Frank Morgan is cast as a bibulous but kindly old settlement doctor and Henry O'Neill as the missionary of the settlement. Reginald Owen, as the captain of the river steamer, and Clyde Cook, as his first mate, contribute the comedy.

The companion picture will be "Friendly Enemies," an Edward Small production featuring Charles Winninger, Charles Ruggles, James Craig and Nancy Kelly.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

—An' don't think I ain't been thinkin' all week! Even yet I ain't got over the wonnerful show wat I seen last Monday evenin' at the Fargo Bldg. at witch I wuz a guest wid my wife an' Bennie Ford an' his spouse ta see Jack Benny an' his grand gang put on a show fer a few thousand sailors. Jack wuz great like I always said he wuz an' Abe Lyman's band is the kind of a band I wish I had in my Grill. An' Dennis Day—well, I wisht he could work fer me too. Schlepperman tickled my funny bone an' everybody else's in the place. I ain't laffed so much in years as I did at that show. It's wonnerful of Jack Benny ta do these things. The greatest sight of all I thought wuz when the enlisted men all rose up ta salute the officers as they went out. I got goos flesh I wuz so thrilled. How are ya gettin' along in this rationed world these days? Me—I ain't looked a good steak in the eye fer so long I'd hafta have a formal introduction ta the next one I see! I wuz always one fer some coffee between meals an' a glass of tea after dinner but the stuff ain't the same widout cream an' sugar. Remember the old days when the sugar bowl wuz overflowing an' cream came in little bottles? Well, it'll all come back again some day an' I ain't begrudgin' the fack at all that our soldiers is gettin' my share an' yours. Heck! I kin stand ta loose some suet off my figger an' go widout until we completely flatten out our enemies wat's already curlin' up fast. Drop inta Ort's Grill, 25 Essex Street. Advt.

'CZAR' AND 'BOSS' TITLES IRK NEW RATIONING HEAD FOR N. E.

Such terms as "czar" or "boss" are frowned on by Prof. Louis Gay Balsam of Lee st., Cambridge, newly appointed director of all food rationing programs in this area, with the title of principal regional food rationing officer for New England.

"I'm just a man trying to help win the war," he said after his appointment was announced..

"We've all got a job to do—that is to win the war. I'm going to take the people into my confidence and tell them everything—why and what and how and the necessity for rationing this and that."

A native of Wrentham and former professor of sociology at Clark University in Worcester, later dean of men and sociology professor at Reed College in Oregon, Balsam was also for many years superintendent of three western Indian reservations.

The Indians are always on food rations, even in peace-time, he explained, and it was in his work with them that he gained an understanding of rationing problems. He said he felt lucky that many key business men in the food industry will assist him in his rationing tasks.

"Many of the men," Balsam said, "have given up their business and salaries or profits in three or four figures a week for the two figure salary Uncle Sam will pay them, merely to help in the winning of the war. We're going to try to do a good job. We know the public is eager to cooperate and with their help we'll get the job done."

Prof. Balsam is married and has two sons, Lloyd, a student at M. I. T. and Allen, a student at Cambridge High and Latin School. His office is at the Federal Agencies building, 17 Court st.

MRS. CAROLINE LITTLE, 76, AND SON, ARNOLD, 52
No Oil Since Dec. 23 for Crippled Man and Mother
International News Photo by Joseph Parodi

Heatless Victims Visit Neighbors to Get Warm

Without oil since Dec. 23 Mrs. Caroline Little, 76, of Carolina ave., Jamaica Plain, sought some relief today visiting the warm apartment of her second floor neighbor, Mrs. Donald DeHarnais.

Her son Arnold, 52, a cripple for the past four years, remained in the cold third floor apartment, lying in bed covered with blankets and an overcoat.

The elderly mother said today she had applied to her dealer on Dec. 23 for range oil, but none has been forthcoming.

"I would prefer heat to food," she said. "My fingers have become so cold I can't do any work around the house any more."

Yesterday mother and son visited with friends in the hope that the warmth and cheer of a few hours would make their own bleak apartment easier to withstand until relief comes.

A few doors down on the same street Mrs. Mary G. Quigley, the mother of seven children, lay in her sickbed in a heatless apartment, attended by her daughter, Anne, 15.

The Quigleys have been without oil since last week, and in desperation today Mrs. Quigley appealed to the Jamaica police for aid.

The mother herself is planning to enter a convalescent hospital in the hope of regaining her health, but her main worry is that her children will have sufficient fuel through the remaining winter months.

Governor Lauds New Canteen

Boston has a new center for service men today, dedicated—in the words of Gov. Saltonstall, who spoke at opening ceremonies—"to that link in American life which Hitler thought was weakest, which really is most strong."

The new canteen is the Boston Jewish Welfare Board Army and Navy Club at 17 Commonwealth ave. Both Mayor Tobin and the governor paid tribute to the men and women who made possible opening of the club. Said Gov Saltonstall:

"Each time we open a new service men's center, dedicated to the American principle of racial and religious equality, we put a lie to the Nazi doctrine of racial supremacy."

5000 MINERS BACK ON JOBS

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 11 (AP)—Approximately 5000 striking miners returned to work today in Pennsylvania's anthracite fields, but an estimated 19,000 others continued a 13-day-old government-condemned walkout that has created the most critical hard coal shortages in years.

Heeding repeated appeals from Fuels Co-ordinator Ickes, the War Department and their own union leaders, 2000 workers resumed production on a limited scale at three collieries of the Glen Alden Coal Co.—the industry's largest operator—while 3000 took up their jobs again at three collieries of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co.

Decision by the six collieries to go back to work was reached at week-end meetings—called after Ickes denounced the strike as "intolerable" and Lieut.-Col. Charles W. Kerwood of the War Department urged the men to return for one week pending settlement of their grievances.

FBI HUNTS POMO KILLER

Nation-wide search for Joseph "Little Bozo" Cortese, 29, missing defendant in the Anthony Pomo killing in 1941, has been launched by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, it was revealed here today.

Cortese, whom police charge with the actual Pomo shooting, is being hunted by the FBI under the same ruling that sent the federal agents in search of the Chicago Touhy gang—failing to advise draft board of change of address.

Three other defendants, Joseph Semenza, Salvatore Venuti and Joseph deMarco, all of the North End, are slated to go on trial on first-degree murder charges Monday in Suffolk Superior Court.

Priest Warns; 'Return to God'

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (INS)—Without a return to God the next peace will be only the beginning of preparations for the next war, the Very Rev. Joseph M. Eagan, S. J., new president of Loyola University, warned.

Father Eagan was feted at a dinner attended by nearly 1000 alumni and friends.

"Many of our schools nourished the philosophy which now threatens to destroy us," he said in attacking the type of education which accentuated science and philosophy to the neglect of religion.

"The military efforts and sacrifices of material things and the noble plans for peace will be dust in our mouths if Christian principles do not prevail."

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—Though your complexion may look as though it'll never appear smooth and fresh again, after a hard day . . . you may bring it back to joyous new life again with the cosmetic masque Arline Gould describes today! Marguerite Chapman poses.

FABULOUS COSMETIC MASQUE YOURS IN 'LAST-TIME' OFFER

By ARLINE GOULD

YOU MAY HAVE HEARD of a fabulous cosmetic masque which makes a haggard face smooth and young-looking again . . . but possibly you were fazed by its price, which ordinarily is $5. At long intervals, this particular masque is made available in a "special introductory size," which for $1 yields you in actual content $3.75 worth of the cosmetic.

It seems that one Boston shop bought up the very last of these containers that were made and filled . . . and they're offered to you through Jan. 16 . . . no more to be had "for the duration."

It is quite different in application . . . this masque . . . and unique in results. Unique because it may be used in an overnight treatment, as well as for pickups, which have proved so important to hard-working gals who have to be on the go though their faces show extreme fatigue.

Wonderful for any skin which has lost its elasticity . . . it seems to mould the complexion, firm the tissues . . . and smooth out superficial lines. They say that it shows fine results in a single pick-up treatment as short as five minutes . . . whereas the majority of masques require at least 20 minutes.

Once a week, they say, is sufficient to show a grand improvement in a fairly young skin, if you use it as an overnight treatment (pick-ups may be indulged in at any time) and an oily skin may have a twice-a-week overnight treatment.

One result of the masque is a transparent look and a beautiful glow . . . and it lasts, giving your complexion a youthful translucency. In it are fruit and flower oils, with nary a drop of mineral oil, insuring the highest quality of ingredients.

As an overnight treatment, the rosy-tinted cream masque is spread on over a thin film of skin-nurturing cream . . . and be sure not to neglect the throat or forehead! In the morning, the base cream will have disappeared, and the only sign of the masque will be a faint pink film. As a pick-up it may be left on anywhere from five minutes to several hours . . . proof of its bland mildness.

For shopping information on this "last time" cosmetic opportunity, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Victory Specials

By MARTHA LEE

DESIGNATED by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as Victory Specials Jan. 7 to 16, grapefruit and tangerines are rolling northward from Florida to be featured in stores and markets as a patriotic buy for the homemaker in the campaign to make the most of our nation's food supply.

Celebrate the special the first thing in the morning with a brimming glass of grapefruit juice, and make sure dinner's dessert is a tangerine treat. for puddings, pies, fruit-cups or tarts are "tangerined" to top taste when garnished with golden sections from this little fruit that has so short a season.

EXTRA RICH IN VITAMIN C

Prized as precious for their flavor, citrus fruits now line up for wartime duty as one of the richest and thriftiest sources of vitaman "C," for this is the vitamin that builds up general resistance and helps the body to guard against infection and fatigue.

Your vitamin "C" store must be renewed daily, but that's a fact that needn't fluster the cook, following citrus around the menu clock. Have a half-grapefruit for an easy breakfast beginning; have the other half for dessert, broiled with a bit of honey. The citrus Victory Specials are the vogue for lunch in a mixed fruit salad of grapefruit and tangerine sections, tossed with greens in French dressing to the glistening point. And don't forget that tangeines tie in with leisure time. Sometimes called the "kid glove orange" because their skins slip off that easily, tangerines are easy eaters-out-of-hand or to tuck into a war worker's lunch box for that indispensable piece of fresn fruit.

TANGERINE NUT MOLD

1 pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
¼ cup grated cabbage
1 cup tangerine sections, cut in halves
½ cup chopped nuts
Lettuce
Mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add cold water; chill. When gelatin is cold and syrupy, add remaining ingredients. Turn into eight individual molds. Place in refrigerator to set. To serve, unmold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. Makes 8 servings.

GRAPEFRUIT APPLE CRISP

2 grapefruit, sectioned
3 apples, peeled and sliced thin
2 tbsp. water
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup honey
2-3 cup sifted flour
½ cup butter

Fill a casserole with grapefruit sections, apples, water and cinnamon. Blend remaining ingredients to a crumbly consistency. Spread over top of grapefruit and apples and bake uncovered in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 45 minutes. Serve hot or cold with hard sauce or cream. Makes 6 servings.

ORANGE CHIFFON PIE

1 tbsp. granulated gelatin
¼ cup cold water
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup sugar
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. grated orange rind
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup orange juice
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 Pastry shell

Soften gelatin in cold water. Mix egg yolk, ¾ cup sugar, salt, lemon rind and juice in top of double boiler, and stir over hot water until mixture thickens. Remove from hot water, add softened gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Add the remaining ¾ cup sugar to stiffly beaten egg whites and fold into the gelatin mixture. Pour in cooled, baked pastry shell and chill. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Fashion

IF YOU HAVE a flair for the dramatic, you can't help appreciating Carol Bruce's formal dinner frock for winter festivities . . . and who's to stop your having one like it? It's lustrous black taffeta with a decolletage worthy of portraiture. Its pointed peplum is accented with variegated sequin embroidery. They say that this V-neckline which is cut back off the shoulders is a fashion development of which you'll see a lot more.—ANNICE BRINK.

FLOWER-COVERED BERETS SPRING FRESHENER-UPPERS

By BETTINA BEDWELL

AMONG the first, and prettiest spring chapeaux are Madame Pauline's small, flower covered berets one of which is sketched. These delightful freshener-uppers for a Winter dress or suit were shown with Nettie Rosenstein's Spring collection.

They can be worn straight, as Miss Dulin has sketched the model presented here. Or they may be worn over the forehead or cocked to one side of the head. They're versatile, and becoming to many.

The Madame Pauline beret in our sketch is covered with velvet pansies in shades of purple, mauve and yellow, with a few green leaves amongst the flowers. The beret needs no band to hold it on. At the center top is a circle of coarse net and through this you simply stick a small comb, which anchors the hat securely. Other flower berets from this famous designer are an all-violet covered beret, and another one with blue forget-me-nots and their leaves.

We Made The Star

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Copyright, 1943, King Features Synd., Inc. World Rights Reserved.

FUNNY little recollection from Christmas Day. Good enough, however, to carry on through the year.

You know how Christmases usually are. Not the sparkly, magazine version with everyone frolicking 'round and everything spic 'n' span. But the real McCoy with the place like a madhouse . . . turkey burning . . . important packages still unsent . . . the whole gang fit for murder.

Well, our Christmas followed the usual pattern. Everyone down with flu. Everything unfinished. Floor unswept. Tree untrimmed. Nobody could find the old box of decorations. Nothing left in the stores and a thundering storm blocking the road. Darn—oh, double darn! Why hadn't someone dropped Christmas out of the calendar just for one year?

GENERAL GROUCH. Then, as usual, we began to relent. After all, Christmas was a pretty swell time. It went back through so many years—years when that sparkly star topped tree shone through many a dark hour. And now there wasn't even a spangle on it, much less a star. Somehow we began to feel a little ashamed.

Then the idea struck us all at once. What if a war-plus-flu-plus-storm had gummed things up—couldn't we make our own star?

We could. We did. A foundation cut from a shoe box, covered with a scrap of ancient silver paper. But someone found a length of tinsel cord to bind the edge and an old blouse yielded up its jewels to make a glowing heart.

Out of the scraps and waste of our present life, we had made a star to glow in our dark, sweet cedar.

WELL, hadn't all the real and best stars been made that way? Weren't the stars on our flag made that way? Something you buy in a store, that wasn't a real star. That didn't light your way. It was the beauty you discovered for yourself that shone over any desert.

You might have acres of sapphire midnight, with special decorations from Tiffany. But you wouldn't have a star unless it burned in your own heart.

Courage and faith, patience and laughter—these were the things that made the real and lasting stars. And those stars were burning all over America last Christmas night. Yes, there was a war and a dim-out. And butter and coffee and sugar were rationed. But those who in spite of all their wealth and power had never seen a star before, saw it then—felt it glowing in their hearts.

IT WAS THE STARRIEST CHRISTMAS AMERICA HAS EVER KNOWN!

Baering Down On the News

The redoubtable Arab must be amazed at the belligerent capers of the infuriated Montgomery, Eisenhower and Rommel.

Africa is accustomed to see the green banner of fanaticism waving in the desert breeze. But this is the first time the warlike Arab has been given his choice of Mad Mullahs.

He is a great fighter even though he wears his night gown in the daytime.

But he must be astonished at the fierce struggle for the Sahara sands. There is one thing that there is enough of to go around.

WOMEN'S WAR WORK TO JUMP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—War Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt predicted that by the end of this year 30 per cent of the nation's war production workers will be women and that a proportionately larger number will be employed in essential civilian trades and services.

He estimated that 4,000,000 of the 17,000,000 war workers now were women and that by the end of the year the number would increase to 6,000,000.

In civilian work, he said, women already are replacing men in such traditionally male jobs as gas station attendants, taxicab and truck drivers, butchers and construction laborers.

"This trend," he reported, "will increase until by the end of the year as many as 45 per cent of the workers in these home front jobs will be women."

Employment of women in the aircraft industry rose from less than five per cent of the total in 1940 to 17 per cent last September and by the end of the year McNutt predicted, there will be more women than men workers in the industry.

The communications equipment industry, on the basis of September figures, is one of the largest employers of women, with 48 per cent.

Among some of the unusual work done by women is an 18-year-old girl's job of operating a 15-ton crane at an Army proving ground. An all-woman crew fires and cleans a 90-millimeter and anti-aircraft gun.

Col. Natalie Still in Charge

Members of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps were notified that appointment of Maj. John J. Lane as director and coordinator of the unit does not alter the "present position or authority as commandant of the corps" of Col. Natalie Hays Hammond of Gloucester.

This statement clarifying Col. Hammond's status was issued by Maj. Lane at the same time that he announced postponement of a conference, scheduled for today, with the corps' leader. The Lane-Hammond meeting was set for later in the week because of serious illness in Col. Hammond's family.

Two Deaths Blamed On Overheated Stove

BATH, Me., Jan. 11 - Fire officials today expressed the belief that an overheated stove caused the fire which claimed the lives of Eben A. Jewett, 64, and Andrew Leslie, 49, roomers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holmes.

Holmes suffered burns about the legs and arms and was taken to the Bath Memorial Hospital.

OFF TO WAR—Answering an appeal from mouse and rat-ridden sailors at the naval training station near Memphis, Tenn., Alexis Smith of the films crates her studio's prize rodent catcher, Butch, and dispatches him to the trouble zone.

JVA Scout Members Study Aircraft Plan

Boy Scouts of the Boston Council, whose ranks include Junior Victory Army members, have their attention riveted on the combat and production feats involving American aircraft and as a result are giving impetus to the air scouting program.

This includes a complete training in aviation ground work, building of model planes and knowledge of airplane design, construction and other subjects of value to pilots.

4 MAJOR RANKS

Air scouting is primarily for youths of 15 to 19, but boys of from 12 to 15 years old are eligible for "candidate" ranks.

The four major ranks in air scouting are apprentice, observer, craftsman and ace, and details of the requiremnts for these are found in a new Air Scout manual.

While it is not planned for Air Scouts to actually make trips in airplanes, they will major in all work necessary for a ground crew.

The first Air Scout unit in the country was formed at Chelsea and this group is now celebrating its first anniversary. Other units have been formed all over the United States, including Greater Boston.

A series of training courses for Air Scout leaders is being planned so more squadrons may be formed in the Boston Council, O. A. Kitterman, Scout executive here, has announced.

BUILDS MODEL PLANES

Anthony Manganaro, 14, of Main st., Everett, who has been a JVA member since the organization was established, is building model planes and expects to join a group of 50 boys of his age who will serve as plane spotters. He recently completed a miniature Baku Geki Ki, Type 99, a Japanese two-place dive bomber with radial air-cooled engine and fixed landing gear.

He received a Navy certificate as a cadet aircraftsman when one of his models was accepted in the 500,000-model plane Navy project.

NAVY MOVES TO ELIMINATE OFFICERS' FANCY TRAPPINGS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—"Brass hats" and gold braid, traditional trappings of the naval officer, are going by the board.

The Navy announced today that, effective immediately, simple overseas caps had become optional uniform equipment to be worn in place of the round stiff-visored caps heretofore required of all commissioned, warrant and chief petty officers.

The insignia of rank will be worn on the right side of the caps and a miniature Navy shield on the left.

The visored service caps may still be worn, but effective Jan. 1, 1944, they will be officially shorn, except for formal wear, of their gold braid, chin straps and the gold work which traditionally decorates the black visors of commanders and admirals.

Also effective next year will be a rule cutting the rank-identifying gold sleeve stripes in half. The stripes will be worn on the outside of the sleeve only, instead of running all the way around the cuff.

'Grapes of Wrath' Is Berlin Serial

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 11 (INS) Stockholm newspapers reported today that the Berlin newspaper Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung is serializing John Steinbeck's controversial novel, "The Grapes of Wrath."

$5,000,000 Idle Betting Money

THERE IS $5,000,000 in idle betting money today with the Fair Grounds in New Orleans having an open day in racing and no other track in the United States operating. I may be off $2 or so either way in my estimate of the amount of cash the race tracks and your favorite bookmaker will not handle today, but why concern oneself with stray two dollar bills when discussing millions?

WHIRLAWAY

If the Fair Grounds were running today, it would handle about $200,000. The other $4,800,000 would be placed in the private vaults and bank accounts of the bookmakers and after the races the fortunate winners would be cut in on the spoils.

The betting element will find some way to place a part of the $5,000,000 in action. The Chinese have a way of overcoming such minor difficulties as lack of a horse track that is doing business. Even when the police have prevented them from having a friendly game of cards with small stakes, they have not ceased gambling. They will cut open an orange and bet as to whether the number of seeds will be odd or even. They have also been known to wager as to whether the numbers of the next auto to come down a particular street will have odd or even numbers.

If you have the betting craze, you can find plenty of things on which to risk your money. I know one group of Boston bettors who operate out of a downtown brokerage office. They often bet on the stock market going up or down as they try to figure out who is going to win the next race.

Bookmakers Were Willing to Back Racing Today

THE BIG BOOKMAKERS of the country were willing to guarantee the purses at the Fair Grounds at New Orleans today if another day of racing could have been arranged. They had talked the matter over with members of the big gambling syndicates. It was felt that the profits of the bookmakers for the day would more than offset the cost of such an investment.

The Fair Grounds, the bookmakers were told, would not consider such a suggestion. The group that now has control of the Fair Grounds has tried to lift its racing program to the highest possible level. It has welcomed the money of the bookmakers through the mutuel windows, but it does not wish to have the gamblers guarantee any purses.

With Tropical Park closed and Hialeah also due to pass up winter racing, the Fair Grounds should have the most successful meeting in its history. It will attract all of the star horses as well as large numbers of big bettors.

Whirlaway is among the turf champions on the way back to the Fair Grounds. Horace Wade in a special article from New Orleans says the Fair Grounds is planning a $20,000 race for Whirlaway, and other crack horses.

Lavallee Retains Speed Skate Title

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Leo Lavallee of Saylesville retained his R. I. speed skating championship before 10,000 here when he scored a clean sweep of the five senior events of the state title meet. Lavallee is New England champion and hopes to try his luck in the national meet this season.

HORSEMEN BID $250,000 TO RUN HIALEAH MEETING

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS)—A syndicate of horsemen, headed by Allen T. Simmons, radio executive of Akron, O., have propositioned Hialeah Park to take over the palatial track and conduct its scheduled meeting to start Wednesday, the New York Journal-American stated today.

The newspaper, in an article under the signature of Ed Curley, stated that the offer is under consideration by John C. Clark, president of the Hialeah track, with the final decision expected this evening.

The Journal-American story added:

WILLING TO GAMBLE

"Simmons, who is a millionaire owner, having 56 horses here, is willing to gamble $100,000 on the proposition and his associates will contribute $150,000 to the fund.

"Their reason for the offer is that they feel it is due to the many owners to get action and under the present transit accommodations to Hialeah they figure it can be done.

"They are not considering the auto class of patrons, but simply those who can arrive at the track via buses. Another reason is that it is possible for the horsemen to man all the positions and thereby save much money daily.

FEEL PLAN FEASIBLE

"The intention is to run the meeting on a co-operative basis with everybody sharing in the profits, if any. The Hialeah folks feel that the proposed plan is feasible. The purses will not bear a stipulated value, but will depend upon the receipts. If the take is small, the purses will be of slight value.

"'We are willing to gamble and possibly lose our money,' explained Simmons, 'but we feel we can lend a helping hand to the horsemen stranded here. If we cannot, it will be our loss and we are willing to take the risk.'"

WHIRLY EYES $20,000 'CAP

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 11 With Warren Wright's Whirlaway headed back to the Fair Grounds, it is expected that a purse of $20,000 will be offered for a special handicap that will send the horse of 1942 against Mioland, Requested, Kayak II, Riverland, Bolingbroke, The Rhymer and other handicap horses in training.

Trainer Ben Jones has let it be known he is not enthusiastic about Whirlaway carrying top weight. Jones is not adverse to 130 pounds which is the weight Whirlaway carried when he won the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap.

Whirlaway was recently given 132 pounds for the Widener Cup race which was called off when Hialeah Park announced it would not conduct its winter meeting.

If you're trying for the $64 question and you think that the 132 pounds assigned to Whirlaway is the heaviest impost placed on any candidate by Racing Secretary Charles J. McLennan since the inaugural running of The Widener Stake in 1936, your answer will not be correct.

Remember Cavalcade, that great horse owned by Mrs. Dodge Sloane? Well, Cavalcade was nominated for The Widener back in 1936. When the weights were released that year for Hialeah's ranking stake feature, Cavalcade was given the post of honor in the matter of topweight, 136 pounds.

Huskies, Tech Sextets In Return Engagement

Bill Linskey's Northeastern varsity hockey team will resume operations tomorrow night when the Huskies meet George Owen's M. I. T. pucksters in a return engagement at the Boston Arena.

In their first meeting this season, the Linskeymen defeated Tech, 4-1, but the rapidly improving M. I. T. team has since developed a scoring punch. The Engineers upset Boston University, 7-2, last week.

Linskey feels that his material has improved since the early part of the season, when his operatives lost two straight to Harvard and B. C. after beating Tech in their opener.

The Northeastern coach now has three fast and dependable forward lines, lack of which hampered the early season efforts of the Huskies.

Capt. Bob Fernberg of Dorchester, a senior, centers the first wave, flanked by senior Bill Hutchinson of Dorchester and freshman Jack Cunha of Arlington. Fernberg and Hutchinson have played on the same line since high school. Newcomer Cunha scored two unassisted goals against B. C. earlier in the season.

Linskey's second line is made up of juniors Walt Hurley of Newton and Bob "Mole" Maker and Richard "Gabe" Conner of Framingham.

CHAMBERLAIN SEEN AS BRUINS' SPARK

By BILL GRIMES

For our money, Murph Chamberlain sparked the Bruins to that thrilling 5 to 4 victory over the Maple Leafs last night at the Garden.

M Chamberlain

Chamberlain broke into the National Hockey League with the Toronto club. He was a member of that supposedly happy family until Conn Smythe sold him down the river to Les Canadiens.

In the two previous Maple Leaf games, we noticed that Murph seemed to have a chip on his shoulder. He tore into every player wearing a Maple Leaf on his jersey and many of his old mates received a thorough going over.

Chamberlain was in a very belligerent mood last evening. Probably, he decided to show the Leafs that if the N. H. L. had reached any agreement which barred rough play, it was news to him.

GIVEN WIDE BERTH

At times he was a wild man and even the most courageous members of the visiting aggregation began to give him a wide berth after the first period.

On every appearance Chamberlain was the life of the party. He didn't play any favorites or display any partiality. He crashed into "Bucko" McDonald, Babe Pratt and Reg Hamilton as frequently as he did Billy "The Kid" Taylor, Lorne Carr and Syl Apps, who never resorts to body checking hockey.

Early in the second period, Mel Hill resented a couple of elbows which Chamberlain tossed at him and a fight ensued and for the next five minutes Chamberlain and his opponent sat out a major penalty.

Just as soon as he returned to ice, Chamberlain took off at "Sweeney" Schriner and it's a miracle that the Leaf wasn't put back on the hospital list.

FACE MARKED UP

Unquestionably, in our opinion, Murph Chamberlain's absolute disregard for life or limb gave the Bruins the lift which was necessary to defeat such a great club as the Toronto Maple Leafs.

And, at the end of the game, Chamberlain's face looked like it had been in a 15 round battle against an opponent with an exceptionally good left jab.

Yes, sir, that is one game that the fans will bet you that Murphy Chamberlain won for the Bruins.

Rangers Soft Touch For Canadiens, 7-4

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens pushed the down trodden New York Rangers right through the cellar and into the sub-basement of the National Hockey League by romping to an easy 7 to 4 victory before 13,375 cash customers in Madison Square Garden.

Going into the game just a point away from the Rangers' cellar address, the Canadiens took the lead midway of the first period and were never headed. They put the game on ice with a four-goal spree in the second session and the Rangers were never in the game until the third chapter, when their five-man rushes down-ice produced three goals.

The victory moved the Canadiens out of immediate danger of replacing the woeful New Yorkers at the bottom of the heap, for it dropped the Rangers three points deep in the cellar.

HARVARD FIVE FACES PENN

The remaining six clubs in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League only have to wait until Saturday to find out how good the Dartmouth Indians are this year, according to the Associated Press.

For the past five seasons the Hanover five has dominated the play and walked off with the crown and indications are that they will be every bit as good again this season although they were toppled by Toledo University's all-freshman team in Ohio Saturday, 52 to 48.

While Dartmouth has been busy touring the Middle West, Cornell took the opportunity of playing one-fourth of its league schedule the first week but couldn't grab first place.

The Big Red five lost its opener to Columbia's freshman-studded quintet, 49 to 40, for its seventh defeat in a row. Considering those setbacks enough for the season, the Ithacans reversed themselves and defeated Yale and Harvard on successive nights.

Harvard, polished off by the Big Red, 49 to 34, invades Philadelphia Saturday night for Pennsylvania's first league fray. That leaves Princeton as the only five not to have tested a loop rival by the end of the week. The Tigers, as usual, will remain idle until the last week in January.

Cutters Tie N. Y. Rovers

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Baltimore Coast Guard Cutters skated to another 4 to 1 win over the Philadelphia Falcons in an Eastern Amateur League hockey match.

The match was nip-and-tuck until the last minute of play, when the Cutters netted two goals within 10 seconds to protect what had been a one-point lead.

As a result of the victory the Cutters went into a tie with the New York Rovers for league leadership. It was the fourth straight loss for the Falcons.

32 Killed in N. Y. Hunting Accidents

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 11 (INS)—Thirty-two persons were killed and 158 others injured in New York State hunting accidents during 1942, compared to 36 killed and 187 injured during the previous year.

The slight decrease in fatalities failed to encourage the conservation department, which explained that wartime conditions reduced the number of hunters in the field. Carelessness in the field continued to be the chief cause of the yearly toll. Eight of the hunters killed were hunting deer.

U. S. C. G. Band To Perform At Bruins Game

The crack 40-piece band of the Captain of the Port, United States Coast Guard, will stage a special program between the periods of the Bruins-Blackhawks hockey game, to be played for the benefit of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter's Red Cross War Fund at Boston Garden tomorrow night.

The band, directed by Lieut. Thomas R. Aldrich, is recognized as one of the nation's leading service bands, and fans attending the game will hear some of the many novelty numbers which have earned it this reputation.

Maj.-Gen. Sherman Miles, commander of the First Service Command, and Rear Admiral Wilson Brown, commandant of the First Naval District, will also speak briefly at the game to explain to the fans the vital role which the Red Cross plays as an "essential auxiliary of our armed forces."

The game, starting time of which has been advanced to 8:15 p. m., is the second of four regularly scheduled National League hockey games from which complete proceeds are being donated to the Boston Red Cross Chapter by the management of the Bruins and the Boston Garden.

The Red Cross War Fund will be held this March independently of any other campaign for funds. For the game, the Garden will be draped with Red Cross flags and the Bruins' players will wear their special Red Cross uniforms.

Pauline Betz Adds To Court Laurels

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 11 (INS)—Pauline Betz, U. S. women's tennis champion, beat Doris Hart, American junior title-holder, for the Pan-American tennis championship before five thousand fans. Francisco "Pancho" Segura, of Ecuador, emerged the victor in the men's final over William Talbert of Cincinnati.

Miss Betz was in superb form as she swept the match, 6—2, 6—3.

Segura won in a close match, 4—6, 6—4, 6—2, 2—6, 6—3, and although loser Talbert showed fine form, his playing, at times, lacked spirit.

GREEN, ELI FIVES MEET ON WEEK-END

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—College basketball, breezing along with little obstruction from the wartime restrictions which have caused other sports to be curtailed or discontinued, swings into high gear this week with heavy firing all along the line.

In the eastern intercollegiate league, Columbia stepped to the front by whipping Cornell in the opener but may have company after Saturday night when Dartmouth, the defending champion and top-heavy favorite, collides with Yale at New Haven.

Harvard visits Pennsylvania Saturday night in the only other league tilt of the week, but numerous non-league games are on tap. Dartmouth, which lost to Toledo, 52 to 48, continues its tour against Wayne at Detroit tonight and Seton Hall at South Orange, N. J., Wednesday.

A doubleheader at Madison Square Garden Wednesday will pit St. John's against Fordham and West Virginia against N. Y. U., which ran its winning streak to nine by beating Manhattan, 64 to 49.

ICE FUTURE OF HERSHEYS IN JEOPARDY

HERSHEY, Pa., Jan. 11 (AP)—The future of the Hershey Bears hockey team, dependent almost entirely upon auto-driving fans for support, will be decided tomorrow night at an American League meeting in New York, according to Alexander Stoddard, public relations head.

The Bears, leaders of the Eastern Division, drew only 1000 fans to their game with the Indianapolis Capitals. Average attendance this year, before the ban on pleasure driving went into effect, was between 5000 and 6000. Last year, attendances of 8000 were common.

Stoddard said, "The Hershey situation is different today from that of any other club ni the rationed area. We have to draw our crowds from a 50-mile radius, while most of the other clubs are situated in cities."

Hershey has 12 more home games scheduled this season.

Art Devlin Takes Roosevelt Trophy

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—Art Devlin, Lake Placid and Syracuse University jumper, won the Franklin D. Roosevelt trophy ski-jumping contest with leaps of 151 and 157 feet. Merrill Barner of Norwich, Ct., was second with efforts of 138 and 143 feet.

Woody Herman says:

"To a band leader a good head of hair is a real asset, and I know your advice and treatment are the best available anywhere."

Woody Herman, nationally famous orchestra leader, now playing at the Keith Boston Theatre, consults John E. Warner about his hair and scalp.

Thousands of men and women have saved and improved their hair through the Warner method of treatment, but no case is ever accepted unless beneficial results are reasonably certain. There is never any charge for a private examination and consultation—and in every case hones; advice is given as to whether or not treatment can be helpful.

Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken — not in advance. There is a separate department for women.

SKATING SENSATION—Adele Inge, greatest acrobatic skater of all times and the toast of New York, will head the star-studded program of the American-Record eighth annual Silver Skates Derby, which takes place at the Boston Garden a week from Sunday.

Through Binoculars

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 11—Isadore Bieber, whose stable is split between Miami and the Fair Grounds, is thanking his lucky stars he decided to stay the season through in New Orleans. He has advised his trainer, Hirsch Jacobs, to ship a string to Louisiana, and is attempting to secure stall space either on the grounds or in outside stables. It is expected that Jacobs will shortly follow Ben Jones' example and send the good handicap horse Bright Gallant, along with Flaught, Her Guardian and five others.

Frank Kelly, who built the Suffolk Downs running strip, is at present track superintendent at the Fair Grounds. He has the course in tip-top condition, despite recent rainfall which made the going heavy for three consecutive days. A splendid drainage system should have the track back at its best for Tuesday's sport, barring further rainfall.

The New Orleans horsemen are up in arms at the sudden closing of Tropical Park. They are unanimously agreed that it would have been the sporting thing to remain open until at least the regular closing date, despite any financial loss to the track. They point out that Henry Strauss, president of Tropical Park, is also president of the American Totalizator Co. and has made millions out of racing. They believe he should have helped the sport to the extent of putting a few of those dollars back.

News that Whirlaway is coming back to New Orleans has been met with cheers by racing fans in the Crescent City. The largest crowd in recent racing history turned out to greet Mr. Longtail on the occasion of his victorious appearance, and they've now uncovered a new pretender to his throne in B. F. Whitaker's Requested. When these two meet over the Fair Grounds track they'll be hanging out the S. R. O. sign at an early hour, with all attendance and mutuel records going smash.

The tan of several Miami visitors was noticeable at the track Saturday afternoon as the vanguard of southern horse fans made their appearance. Their sun-browned complexion was in marked contrast to the white skins of the natives.

Through Saturday's racing exactly 95 claims had been registered at the meeting, a record-breaking number. Latest to be haltered was Mrs. C. C. Winters' Mad Bunny, a mud-running fool who won a recent start by an estimated 18 lengths—and an actual 70 yards. She came in so far in front she looked lonesome, the field straggling along after her, three and three-fifths second later. The winters will stay the season out at the Fair Grounds instead of making their usual jaunt to Hot Springs.

ADELE INGE SENSATIONAL FIGURE SKATER IN DERBY

Adele Inge, the greatest acrobatic figure skater of all time—the Missouri girl who is the talk of New York—will make her first Boston appearance at the Garden on January 24, highlighting the eighth annual Silver Skates Derby.

Derby followers who have been thrilled by such stars as Megan Taylor, Vera Hruba, Erna Anderson, Ariane and Hazel Franklin in the past years have the treat of the year in store for them.

Learning to skate at the age of seven on a small artificial rink her dad built in the cellar of their home, Adele, a great child acrobatic dancer just transferred her talent to skates and the results were amazing.

She has more original stunts and routines than any other skater in the world. Her mastery of front and back somersaults without the use of her hands has so amazed critics that even Robert Ripley has a "Believe It Or Not" cartoon about her.

SENSATIONAL WHIRLER

Adele can make from 300 to 400 revolutions in two and one-half minutes of whirling which is spinning that can't be duplicated. There isn't another skater who can back somersault without the use of hands and her other feats such as a combination handspring and body twist; one-handed walkovers and a roundoff turn to six or seven back flips, just to name a few, make her the talk of the nation.

There is little doubt but that the Derby on January 24, headed by Adele Inge, will be the greatest ever. Under the smooth direction of Chairman Ben Levias, everything is rapidly being whipped into top shape.

Little Jane Weiss, 13-year-old Dedham girl who made her public debut at the Derby last year and who was great, will again be back and Karl Rohde who has handled the music for the past six Silver Skates parties will wield the baton.

For the benefit of the skaters—those of you who intend filing a blank to compete and haven't as yet done so had better get busy.

All entries close Thursday at midnight. There will be no post entries.

Bob Feller's Father Dead

VAN METER, Iowa, Jan. 11 (AP)—William Feller, the Iowa farmer who groomed his son, Bob, to become a major league pitching star, is dead.

Death came to the 56-year-old father, seriously ill for several years, in the $25,000 farm home son Bob built for his parents on their 320-acre farm near here.

Bob, who left the Cleveland Indians to join the Navy, is believed to be on sea duty following completion of a gunnery course at Norfolk, Va. He last visited his parents and sister, Marguerite, Dec. 1.

Feller's life was wrapped around the baseball achievements of the son he reared to be a ball player.

From the moment Bob joined Cleveland in 1936 his father became an intense follower of the Indians, with emphasis, of course, on what his 17-year-old son accomplished.

He didn't talk freely about Bob, but he talked proudly.

Once he said:

"I'm not saying this because he's my son, but I believe Bob has a curve that no other pitcher has ever had. And he has the speed to go with it."

B. C. Eleven to Play Short '43 Schedule

By HERB FINNEGAN

Boston College is no fair weather friend. Denny Myers and his twice-beaten Eagles were sure of that this morning after reviewing last night's events at Hotel Statler where some 750 alumni and invited guests gave an unprecedented demonstration of loyalty to its coaching staff and football team.

Out of the torrent of words which raged through the spacious ballroom at the seventh annual Varsity Club dinner these gems were rescued this morning as the debris and those who sailed too long were swept away.

1—Denny Myers can come back as head coach whenever his hitch in the Navy expires.

2—John P. Curley, graduate manager of athletics, considered "on the spot" in some quarters, can keep his job as long as he wishes.

3—Boston College will play football next fall, and its varsity eleven will have a four or six-game schedule.

4—Gil Bouley will captain BC's 1943 team (if the Army lets him stay in college).

5—Give-it-to-Mike Holovak is the most popular undergraduate at the college, in the eyes of the alumni.

7—Denny Myers had his car stolen (license No. 580,777).

8—Gerry Coughlin is still All-America in the field of entertainment.

Football has no stronger booster than Commr. Tom Hamilton, in charge of physical training at the many Naval Pre-Flight schools.

CHAMPIONS AFTER ALL

"It's the over-all record that counts," said Commr. Hamilton as he glanced at the Lambert trophy and noted that the Eagles were Eastern champions in two of the past three years. But before that Tom Scanlon, president of the Varsity Club had paid high tribute to Myers, and Rev. Maurice V. Dullea, S. J., faculty director of athletics, told the enthusiastic gathering that Myers could come back to his job as B. C. head coach whenever he was free to do so.

Myers' 1942 won eight straight before losing to H. C. and then to Alabama in a post-season game, prompting a witty parody by Gerry Coughlin: "Two Too Many" to the tune of "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

Said Hamilton as he lauded the late Lieut.-Comdr. John J. Shea (of whom a portrait was unveiled) and other B. C. graduates in the service: "Let's stop wondering about the future of intercollegiate football. Let's assume there will be football and go ahead."

IDEAL SPORT

He added that the Navy trained for this war "on competition" and that football is the ideal competitive sport. He pointed out that Admirals Halsey, King, Nimitz and Brown were all fine football players in their younger days, and that every member of his own football team at Navy is currently excelling in some branch of naval service.

But after all, the alumni gathered to toast the players and the coaches, and exercised their tremendous ingpower when it was announced that the much-maligned Myers would return, that Bouley would lead the '43 eleven, and when Holovak and the other co-captain Fred Naumetz, made their neat valedictory speeches.

TOM WHALEN, acting master at Lynn English High, who fought a losing battle when he tried to convine the Mass. headmasters that Sunday football was essential to the war effort.

Outlaw Schools Consider Plan of Forming League

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Of course, the big news of the week-end in schoolboy sports was the refusal of the Mass. Headmasters Association to rescind the ruling against Sunday football as suggested by two of the outlawed schools but it's too bad that a few of these "outlaws" couldn't spend the time to defend their actions.

Only two of the banned secondary schools sent representatives to the meeting to speak in defense of their actions of the past football season.

A lot of credit must be handed to Tom Whelan, Lynn English High School—a lot because of the fact that Whelan is only the acting headmaster of his school. But Whelan's voice was lost against the gathering—close to 100—all of whom were apparently against any move Whelan might make to have the group's Sunday grid games accepted by the association.

Lawrence J. O'Leary of Lawrence High spoke in favor of allowing schools to play Sundays for the duration and his vote, along with those of Whelan and Carleton Skillings of Methuen, held practically the entire vote against the remainder of the meeting.

There is little doubt but that football supports the other sports in high schools so that regardless how Earle MacLeod of Haverhill speaks against Sunday football being a "money proposition" it will probably stand as just that until a better substitute comes along.

The ban still holds against Chelsea, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn English, Lynn Classical, Revere, Newburyport, Peabody and Salem High Schools. Just what the reactions of schools within th association will be is still a problem. For example, Newton had agreed to play Lynn Classical a home and home series starting this year but whether this will be carried out remains to be seen.

The report of the athletic committee of the association has suggested that schools in the membership, or good standing as the leaflets word it, rrange no further tilts with those schools which have been dropped. Still, there is no penalty involved if Newton should decide to play Classical.

As a matter of fact, there is talk of the outlawed schools making up a schedule in football, bringing in possibly Nashua, N. H., and Manchester, N. H., to fill out a schedule of 10 games. There has been no limit set on the number of games a school might play in football but the association did definitely state that members must not play more than 18 regular games of basketball.

Bolster Heads Grid Officials

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Cal Bolster of Pittsburgh, was elected president of the Eastern Ass'n of Intercollegiate Football Officials after the whistle-tooters heard speakers predict that college sports would continue next year.

Bolster, formerly the organization's secretary-treasurer, succeeded Leo Daly of Boston. Dr. J. J. Allinger of Buffalo, was chosen vice-president and E. E. Heintz of Philadelphia, secretary-treasurer.

Walter Okeson, chairman of the National's Rules Committee, and Lou Little of Columbia, declared they believed college football would continue next fall.

The delegates passed a resolution in which they agreed to officiate any college football game played for war relief next fall without charge.

Cabral, Robinson On Mechanics Card

Freddie Cabral, of Cambridge, and Scat Robinson, of Jamaica, L. I., will feature Friday night's boxing card at Mechanics Building.

In a recent fight at Holyoke this pair boxed to a draw.

Cabral, on an unbeaten streak which has extended to 16 straight, was eager to get back into a Boston ring and fight before the home folks.

In the other 8-round features it will be Larry Pacino vs. Manny Rossa; Sonny Horne, Niles, Ohio vs. Eddie Ellis, Quincy.

American fliers of the new P-38 group in New Guinea relax at their camp . . . playing cards and listening to the radio while awaiting the call for air action. Then, comes the call . . . and left . . .

2—To Planes

Into a truck and out to their P-38's go the pilots . . . and here's one Yank rushing to his plane where a mechanic is all set to start the speedy fighter's motors. Now, below . . .

3—Off to Battle—Quick-warming motors make for a speedy take-off . . . and now the P-38's streak through the sky on a mission that's going to do the Japs no good. This type fighter, a newcomer to the New Guinea skies, recently downed 77 Jap Zeros in a three-day battle at Lae.
